Kansas Building Collapses, 8 Are Hurt

TONGANOXIE, Kan. (AP) — Three men were killed and eight other persons injured Wednesday in the collapse of a 78-year-old native stone building on the main street of this small eastern Kansas town.

The dead:

Claude Reynolds, 76, a retired laborer from McLouth, Kan.

Charles Farrell, 25, McLouth, a farmer.

George Stephenson, 60, Tonganoxie cattle trader.

The three were alive but trapped in the wreckage when found. They died before they could be extricated.

One of the injured, Hobe Hall, 65, a pool hall employe, was trapped for nearly four hours before he was freed. He was taken to a Lawrence, Kan., hospital for treatment of shock and other injuries.

Deputy Sheriff Elmer Parmer said investigation showed that a rear foundation wall of the two-story building had given away Tuesday. Part of the masonry wall, he said, had fallen inward across the back of the building.

"It undoubtedly weakened the structure," Parmer said.

When the building collapsed, it pulled down two one-story frame buildings that flanked it.

Two Guests

The two-story building was erected in 1879. It housed a pool hall on the ground floor and an apartment on the second floor. The apartment was occupied by Mrs. Al Hicks, owner of the building. She was away at the time, but two guests were there. One, Mrs. Leo McEnulty was trapped and injured. The other, Mrs. Charlotte Helm, escaped without injury.

As the side walls of the two-story building caved in they pulled down the roof and front walls of a cafe on the east and a building on the west occupied jointly by a barber shop and cleaning shop. The rear walls of the three buildings remained standing but showered stone and mortar onto the debris from time to time.

Farrell, Stevenson, Hall and possibly Reynolds were in the pool hall. Two others in the pool hall were among six persons who escaped without injury.

Tonganoxie has a population of about 1,200. It is located about 26 miles west of Kansas City.

SPARKLERS FUN... I THINK

Little Lisa Fike wasn't too sure that she wanted to twirl that sparkler, with its bright arcs breaking through the darkness of the 1957 Fourth of July eve. Perhaps, at 19 months, she's too young to know that not everything the observance of that holiday brings is as safe and pretty as a sparkler. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fike of 1430 B. TAKE IT EASY WITH THAT SUMMER TAN!

A little sun goes a long way when you're getting that summer tan, according to Dr. E. A. Rogers, director of the State Health Department.

Warning sunbathers against trying to get a deep tan all at once, Dr. Rogers says they may suffer burns which are painful, spoil their appearance and sometimes wind up in the hospital if they take too-large doses of sun.

Severe sunburn, Dr. Rogers said, "may make you very sick with chills, fever and even delirium, and blistering of the skin may lead to infection."

Dr. Rogers said it is important to remember that not the heat of the sun, but the ultraviolet rays are responsible for a sunburn.

Direct Rays

The noonday sun is particularly dangerous, he explained, because when the sun is high overhead, its rays are short, direct and burning.

Even on cloudy days the rays may filter through the clouds and cause burns, Dr. Rogers stated, adding that wind as well as sun can cause painful burns.

For most people, he continued, 10 to 15 minutes is long enough for the first sunbath exposures. Children and adults with very sensitive skins should start with only five to 10 minutes in the sun.

Dry Off First

Dr. Rogers said that after swimming it is dangerous to sit in the sun before the body has had time to dry. "Each drop of water becomes a little magnifying glass which intensifies the days and increases the danger of severe burning," he explained.

Dr. Rogers said eyes and hair should be protected from too much sunlight. He warned that eyes cannot build up immunity and are easily damaged, so it is best to keep them covered while sun bathing.

One-Way Extension Route Set, Bids In

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Bids for extension of 9th and 10th St. as one-way pairs through Van Dorn Park are scheduled for letting on Aug. 11.

L. N. Ress, state engineer, said Wednesday plans for extending 9th St. through the northeast corner of the park have been approved by the U.S. Bureau of Highways.

These plans also include a four-lane highway for where 9th and 10th join south of the park to the intersection of 14th and Burnham. There, the two streets will connect with traffic outlets to Hwys. 2 and 77.

Under the original agreement with the state, Lincoln officials agreed to provide the right-of-way for extension of 9th St. south if the state built the roads.

No All Acquired

As yet, the city has not acquired sufficient right-of-way to the south side of the park, including land now occupied by a gun shop, a farm market, and service station.

Right-of-way already acquired by the city includes a row of houses on the east side of 9th St. north of Van Dorn. This will enable the street to cut over to the east from just north of Van Dorn to connect with the four-lane highway to the east of the park.

The final plan for cutting across the northeast corner of the park was submitted by city officials and approved by the State Highway Department.

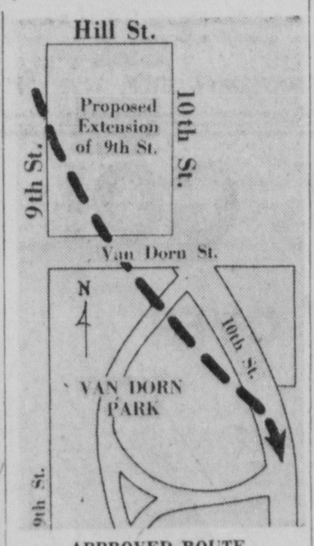

First plans for construction of the one-ways were to by-pass the park to the west with 9th St. and curve southeast with the only right-of-way involved property of the Equity Union Grain Co.

Plan Rejected

This plan, however, was rejected by the city.

No figure was given of estimated costs of the one-way extensions, although the total financial burden will be borne by the state with federal aid primary funds. Eventually, the one-way pairs will join north of T St. in Lincoln in a proposed new overpass connection with the Interstate Highway.

Condemnation of the additional property sough of the park is expected soon, with final compilation of property value figures.

'Weakness' Sign Seen By U.S

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower discussed the Kremlin shakeup with his top advisers Wednesday and the State Department said the reshuffle shows "disagreement over basic policies" among Soviet leaders.

At the same time, U. S. legislators hailed the firing of four top Soviet leaders as a sign of dissension and "weakness" in Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower met with his top secret National Security Council to talk over the announcement from Moscow shortly before he left to spend the week end of his Gettysburg farm.

Following the meeting, the State Department said that "the serious nature of the divergence of views" inside the Kremlin "is clearly shown by the number and importance of the persons dismissed or shifted."

Stresses and Strains

Spokesman Lincoln White said "it has long been known that the Soviet system operated under stresses and strains."

White added that "arbitrary and abrupt dismissals without public discussion of the issues are also characteristic of the system."

The spokesman noted that the Soviet press has "at various times sugested there has been disagreement over basic policies in such fields as government organizations, agriculture, heavy industry, consumer goods and satellite affairs."

He said that the administration is "naturally following" the developments in Moscow closely to see what effect they may have on Soviet policy.

Victory Over Stalinists

U.S. officials said that the Russian move signalled a major political victory for Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khruschev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin over the Stalinists.

White House news Secretary James C. Hagerty said that the U.S. had been tipped off in advance of the Soviet shakeup by other developments in Moscow.

Hagerty said that an editorial in Pravda, plus the sudden cancellation of a Bulganin-Khruschchev visit to Czechoslovakia and the calling off of an aerial show in Moscow, "telegraphed" the move.

In Congress, most foreign affairs experts emphasized that it is too early to analyze the Soviet shakeup completely, but expressed belief that it may work to the advantage of the United States.

Dissension Seen

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), acting Senate Democratic leader, said the "sudden" firings indicate Russia "once again is having a struggle for control."

He said this evidence of dissension, coupled with trouble in the satellite countries, suggests that Russia "is not in such good shape as she would have the rest of the world believe."

Describing the development as a "good thing because it does denote weakness," Mansfield said the shakeup may have developed from economic troubles and may indicate a break in relations between Russia and Red China. He did not elaborate.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), senior GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said the move may reflect "an internal diversionary tactic." He explained: "It might be a publicity stunt to get the people's minds off something else—just a diversionary move."

YOU'RE BOUND TO HAVE A HOT TIME

...Another 100-Degree Day Seen

For their Fourth of July festivities Lincolnites can expect the same hot, humid weather that fairly wilted them on Wednesday.

More 100-degree temperatures are expected, however. Slightly cooler weather may arrive with small thundershowers late Thursday night, the forecasters said.

The century mark was no record—but as the fellow once said, "It's a darn good average."

It also was the highest reading in the state for the day and the top for Lincoln so far this year.

Along with more heat, Nebraskans could expect scattered showers and thunderstorms on the Fourth of July.

A line of thunderstorms, some of them heavy, materialized in western Nebraska Wednesday evening and moved eastward. Sidney reported an early evening thunderstorm and there was a thundershower at Imperial.

North Platte reported a thunderstorm with heavy rain and wind gusts up to 55 mph. A funnel cloud was reported near Brady, but it moved northeast and did not touch the ground. Brady is 23 miles east of North Platte.

A twister a mile west of Sutherland, 20 miles west of North Platte, almost blew a car from the highway, according to a State Safety Patrol report.

Strong winds and severe lightning accompanied the storm in that area, the North Platte Weather Bureau reported.

COME HOME ...ALIVE

So you're off in the car with the family today for a glorious long July Fourth weekend.

Have fun — and come home alive!

The National Safety Council predicts 535 persons will be killed on the highways by Sunday midnight.

Belvidere Man First Fatality During Holiday

Lincoln Star Special

BRUNING, Neb. — Nebraska recorded its first holiday traffic fatality near here Wednesday night when Ibey Wagner, Belvidere, Neb., farmer, was instantly killed in a one-truck accident southeast of Bruning.

With his death, the Nebraska 1957 highway toll moved to 122, still well under the 143 deaths at this time last year.

Investigating officers said the 59-year-old Belvidere man apparently lost control of his pickup truck on a county road. Wagner apparently was thrown from the vehicle and was killed when the truck rolled over onto him, the investigation revealed.

He was traveling alone. Time of the crash was placed at 7 p.m.

Surviving are his wife, Dolly; his mother, Mrs. Lena Wagner of Hebron; two brothers, John and Henry, both of Hebron, and three sisters, Mrs. Paul Heltenberg of Hebron, Mrs. Jake Lucht of Kankee, Ill., and Mrs. William Enninga of Holyoke, Colo.

Appraisal Disputes Very Few

...Before Council

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The City Council, now sitting as the board of equalization for 1957-58 fiscal year real estate valuations, faces but three complaints, one of them on a downtown business property.

This one significant objection is from the S. S. Kresge Co., at 1137-45 O. The land is valued at $201,200 and the building at $175,000 by City Assessor William Schlaebitz.

In a letter to the board of equalization, the company points out that the building valuation is particularly objectionable. The company shows the valuation as $4.10 per square foot, higher than other business structures listed by them as comparable building.

It is also claimed that the Wilkins Co., professional valuation firm for the county, values the Kresge building at $192,935. The level of assessed valuation, the letter said, is generally about 40 per cent of actual value while the city's assessed valuation of the Kresge building is 90 per cent of the Wilkins valuation.

Schlaebitz pointed out that buildings compared by Kresge to their own are different in many respects. Some of them, he said, have only a front and rear wall, using the walls of adjoining buildings for sides or have fewer floors.

He also pointed out that the city does not use the Wilkins figures for its real estate valuations. If the city used the Wilkins figures in this case, he said, it would only be fair to use them in all cases and that would completely upset the city's assessment rolls.

To change the Kresge valuation, he said, would seriously affect the city's valuations on all downtown properties.

The board will hold a public hearing on all complaints at 10 a.m. Monday, July 8.

Other complaints on valuations are: property at 934 P and property on south side of O, east of 37th.

Charge Of Intrigue Made

MOSCOW (Thursday) (AP) — The Kremlin has expelled Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov, L. M. Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov from their high posts in the Soviet Communist Party. They were accused of collusion and intrigue against the party's leadership.

Apparently the Central Committee stopped short of the severe penalty of expelling them from the Communist party, as some committee members had urged. Instead, it expelled them from the Central Committee and the Presidium (Politburo).

The Central Committee elected a new presidium including Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, World War II hero of Moscow, and Mrs. Ekaterina Furtseva, the first woman on the ruling party body.

Tass said Miss Furstseva made the announcement of this far-reaching shakeup to a mass meeting of Communist Party members, apparently convened in the Kremlin, explaining that the four accused had been decisively condemned for anti-party activities "directed at breaking up the party."

Zhukov

Shepilov

Other Names

The list of new Presidium members indicated that Maxim Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, two leading economic and industrial experts of the Soviet Union, also had been demoted. They were not listed as members or alternates of the new Presidium, although the official communique did not mention them in connection with offenses against the party.

The newly elected Presidium—successor to the Politburo of Stalin's day—included the names of only six of the 11-member group elected in February, 1956.

The event, evidently the biggest shakeup since Stalin died in 1953, was foreshadowed by an angry editorial in Pravda Wednesday warning that no man was too big to be expelled from the party. But the communique, while even more severe in its language against the accused four leading offenders, still referred to them as "comrades." Whether they keep their present jobs in the government, as differentiated from the party, remains to be seen.

Both Ex-Premiers

Malenkov and Molotov, both former premiers, Kaganovich, a first deputy premier and industrial expert, and Shepilov, a propaganda expert and former foreign minister, were dropped from the Presidium, the most powerful body in the U.S.S.R., and from the party Central Committee. Shepilov was fired as an alternate member of the Presidium and from his post as one of the party's secretaries.

The six holdovers in the Presidium are Premier Nikolai Bulganin, Ukraine party boss A. I. Kirichenko, first party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev, the trade expert and Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, the party theoretician M. A. Suslov, and the old Soviet warhorse, Marshal Klimenti Voroshilov, who is president of the U.S.S.R.

'Candy Ball' Explodes In Lad's Mouth

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP) —Jon Discoe, 15, put some Fourth of July torpedoes (small balls of explosive that go off when thrown against a hard surface) in his shirt pocket Wednesday along with some hard "chewing candy" balls.

Walkin down a business district street, Jon reached into his pocket for some candy, popped the ball into his mouth and clamped down hard.

The "candy" expioded. Part of a tooth was blasted away, Jon's mouth was badly burned and his inner cheek pitted by powder.

He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Discoe of Sidney.

Dismissal Of Dulles Favored

...By Harriman

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman Wednesday night sharply assailed President Eisenhower's conduct of foreign affairs and delivered what appeared to be a demand for dismissal of Secretary of State Dulles.

The Democratic governor also told the annual foreign policy conference at Colgate University that "it may only be a question of time" until the United States would be unable to prevent admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

On the subject of nuclear weapon tests, Harriman maintained that "no information has been disclosed that it would be disadvantageous for us to agree to end testing large hydrogen bombs" provided certain conditions were met.

He contended in his prepared speech that the American public had been "denied" sufficient information from the Eisenhower administration on which to form an opinion about the tests.

Harriman, former new deal-fair deal diplomat who bid unsuccessfully for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 and 1952, ranged over a wide field in his attack on the Eisenhower stewardship.

'Low Ebb'

The governor maintained that the United States' world influence was "at a low ebb" and that Eisenhower's reputation had been "considerably tarnished."

Harriman asserted that "people of the world rightly believed that he (Eisenhower) is a man of peace." But, he continued, "they are aware . . . that the President does not personally conduct the foreign relations of the United States and that such initiative as is shown is seldom his."

Leading into his attack on Dulles, Harriman said there was "grave concern" in Europe "over the motives and methods of our government in dealing with world problems."

He continued:

"This distrust is focused with deep feeling on the one man they hold responsible—the secretary of state. Unhappily this attitude has now become so deep-seated that it is difficult to see how it can be overcome as long as Mr. Dulles is secretary of state."

Accident Injury Leaves Man, 63, In Fair Condition

A 63-year-old Lincoln man injured Wednesday morning in a car-truck accident at 9th and A was listed in fair condition at a local hospital.

Samuel G. Gatch of 1800 Dakota suffered a brain concussion and possible skull fracture when the car he was driving was in collision with a 1½ ton milk truck driven by Rex Brown, 23, of 4039 F, about 7:18 a.m., police said.

Brown was treated for a wrist injury at a local hospital and released.

Police said Gatch was driving west on A and Brown south on 9th when the mishap occurred.

Russia Likely To Get Clean-Fallout Recipe

Disarming Agreement Still Sought

. . . Ike Tells Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that if this country ever tests another big nuclear bomb he will invite "any country in the world" to be on hand and see for itself that radioactive fallout has been reduced toward the vanishing point.

Eisenhower also told a news conference his scientific advisers favor telling the Russians or anyone else exactly how to make a "clean" bomb once this country proves it knows how.

The President spoke out firmly and with a touch of indignation in denying the United States has grown a bit halfhearted in seeking disarmament agreement with the Russians since U.S. scientists have said a hydrogen bomb completely "clean" of fallout can be developed.

Offer Stands

Eisenhower declared his administration will "always" stand by its offer to try for a suspension of nuclear tests — even though, he said, there would be scientific advantage in continuing to test such weapons.

Turning to domestic affairs, the chief executive frowned on a proposal by Sen. Russell (D-Ga) that the administration's civil rights bill be submitted to a nationwide popular vote.

Eisenhower said there's nothing in the Constitution providing for such a step — that it's up to elected officials, such as members of Congress, to decide on legislation.

It's Too Early

Eisenhower declined to commit himself on several questions.

He said, for instance, it's too early to tell whether the $6 a ton price increase announced by U.S. steel — just after the President urged both industry and labor to go easy on price and wage increases — was justified or would prove inflationary.

And he limited himself to an I-hope-not reply when asked if he expects Congress, for all its economy talk, to spend more this year when the final bills are in than his budget called for.

Eisenhower turned a trifle tart when asked about a suggestion by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) that the administration provide a calendar of developments in the Idaho Power Co.-Hells Canyon controversy, as it did during the Dixon-Yates power fight.

"If he has said any such thing," commented the President crisply, "he has said it for public consumption, and not to get any action, because he has not made any such request to me."

He was smilingly noncommital again when asked if he spotted any 1960 presidential material among the Republican governors with whom he met June 20 at Williamsburg, Va.

"I thought they were excellent and wonderful gentlemen," said the President, just as if he hadn't heard any mention of 1960.

On other matters, the chief executive said:

1. He agrees with Secretary of State Dulles that this country should offer help to both sides in trying to solve the French-Algerian dispute rather than back the Algerians. Thus both Eisenhower and Dulles took issue with a proposal by Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) that the United States start working "toward political independence for Algeria."

2. He thinks the French are entitled to try U.S. Army Specialist 3.C Dwayne McCosker in the killing of an Algerian in Paris. Eisenhower said he understood the episode occurred in a cafe, while the soldier was off duty, and so McCosker is subject to trial in local courts just as an American tourist would be.

3. He regards it as "unhelpful" to Middle Eastern peace for the Russians to send submarines to Egypt, as they have done recently.

Court Orders A Restudy Of Ban On Writer Travel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department was ordered Wednesday by the U.S. Court of Appeals to reconsider its refusal of a passport to writer Donald Ogden Stewart.

The author and playwright was denied a passport because he refused to say whether he had ever been a Communist. He did tell the department he had no Communist coneections in the past 15 years.

Stewart has lived in England since 1950 and wanted a passport to travel on the European continent. The department said it would give him one good only for return to the United States.

Five of the nine Appeals Court judges voted to send the case back to the State Department for consideration on its merits. In doing this they affirmed an earlier order by U.S. District Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut.

The court majority said the State Department can take into consideration Stewart's sworn statement that he had no Red ties for at least 15 years "and to draw such inferences as are proper to be drawn from such a limited negative statement."

Eliminated was a section of Judge Schweinhaut's order which said the department could consider Stewart's refusal to say whether he had ever been a Communist.

Man Surrenders As '36 Deserter From Army Fort

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) —A 42-year-old father of three children surrendered Wednesday as a deserter from the United States Army.

William D. Johnson, Chicago, turned himself in to Sgt. Joe Lay of the Army Recruiting Service here. Johnson said he deserted from Fort Crockett, Tex., 21 years ago.

Johnson, a native of southern Graves County, said the desertion had weighted upon his conscience for some time and he decided to surrender after visiting his wife who is living in Graves County, just outside Puducah.

He said he left Fort Crockett in December, 1936.

Taken Back

A military apprehension team from Fort Knox arrived to take Johnson back to the fort where he will be held pending disposition of his case.

Asked how he avoided the draft during World War II, Johnson said "I just ignored the previous military service question on the registration form."

Then, he said, he obtained a job in a Chicago defense plant where he was declared exempt from the draft.

He recently has been employed as a cab driver in Chicago.

How his foot was fractured is a mystery to Maj. Stevens. He'll wear the plaster cast for six weeks.

Foolproof Arms Inspection Plan Needed–Stassen

LONDON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen said Wednesday any inspection system set up to enforce an end to the H-bomb race must be painstaking and completly foolproof.

The U. S. delegate told the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee the United States is confident that if all nations co-operate such a system can be so good as to prohibit absolutely all cheating of any consequence.

He said that before the United States will agree even to suspend hydrogen bomb tests there must be agreement on the design, installation, operation and maintenance of such a system.

Stassen was elaborating on Tuesday's U.S. offer to halt bomb tests for 10 months provided Russia and the West agree that in 1959 they stop assigning materials for H-bomb construction.

Valerian Zorin, Russian delegate, declined comment on Stassen's proposals. Stassen promised to finish giving the U. S. plan Friday.

The subcommittee argued again over whether it should alter its rules to hear a representative of India.

Stassen said Zorin, in suggesting that an Indian be heard had not been clear as to whether he meant Prime Minister Nehru.

If there is any question of Nehru's appearing, Stassen said, he would have to refer the matter back to Washington.

BIG BOOM IS DELAYED TILL FRIDAY

By BOB CONSIDINE

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS)—The multi-million dollar atomic fireworks display, scheduled for the dawn's early light on Independence Day, was postponed another 24 hours because of a minor mechanical mishap.

Postponement has become standard procedure in Operation Plumbbob, this newest and most extensive test of "small" nuclear weapons. The Atomic Energy Commission's diligent search for more efficient methods of creating fission in uranium and plutonium and causing fusion in baser materials used in H-bombs has met with both natural and super-natural delays.

Test "Hood," the estimated 50-kiloton bomb, two and one-half times more powerful than the Hiroshima bomb, and probably much more compact, was postponed until Friday morning because of the failure of an air speed indicator.

1,500-Foot Lift

This gadget is mounted on the bomb gondola, which is suspended from a gay striped balloon which will lift it 1,500 feet over a forlorn portion of the Nevada test site, from which height it will be touched off.

The balloon and its burden underwent a successful dry run through Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. It rose steadily on four cables, reached the altitude which will cause the bomb to give off a minimum amount of radioactive fallout, and responded perfectly to all other requirements, except its speed indicator.

Naturally, the AEC would not want to expose the balloon to winds that might snap its cable and carry its equivalent of 25,000 tons of TNT across the Nevada countryside.

Moved Out

KANSAS CITY (AP)—There was no answer Wednesday to telephone calls to 1107, Federal Reserve Bank Building.

Harry S. Truman, the suite's tenant for the past 4½ years had moved out.

The former President completed the move Wednesday to his new office in the Harry S. Truman Library at Independence which will be dedicated and turned over to the federal government Saturday.

—IRAN QUAKE—

TOLL OF 1,000 IS FEARED

. . . Villages Ruined

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Rescue teams roving the still trembling earth of north Iran expressed fear Wednesday that Tuesday's quake killed more than 1,000 persons.

The known death toll soared to 750.

More than 3,000 persons were missing from ruined villages that marked the quake's horseshoe-shaped path around the south end of the Caspian Sea from Soviet Turkmen to Soviet Azerbaijan. However, many of these were presumed to have sought safety in the open fields and woods.

Havoc And Misery

Official statistics pictured havoc and misery as mild after-shock tremors persisted; more than 100 villages wrecked; 1,500 persons seriously injured; property damage estimated at more than 12½ million dollars.

Wire lines were down and avalanches blocked roads, leaving runners and horsemen as the only means of communication throughout much of the affected 50,000 square miles.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, on vacation in Switzerland with Queen Soraya, cabled orders for immediate large-scale relief measures. His sister, Princess Shams, plans to start Friday on a tour of the stricken area. She will distribute medicine, food, clothing and money among the survivors.

Completely Wrecked

The grimest note of the day's rescue efforts came from two villages unmentioned in early accounts of the quake. These were Tighband and Sangchal. Both were completely razed. In the ruins, rescue workers found 400 bodies.

The quake appeared the most deadly since a temblor killed 1,409 persons in north Algeria in September, 1954.

The path of death and damage seemed to extend into the Soviet Union on both sies of the Caspian But there was no word from the Russians on what happened north of the border.

L.A. Board Okays Pay TV System

LOS ANGELES (AP) An application by Skiatron TV, Inc., to install and operate a closed circuit pay television system in Los Angeles was approved by the Board of Public Utilities.

The application, together with a recommendation that such pay-as-you-see system is feasible, was turned over to the City Council, which will determine whether a franchise should be granted and its terms.

A pay television system reportedly is one of the things the Brooklyn Dodgers hope to take advantage of if and when they move to Los Angeles.

The application approved by the board calls for Skiatron to pay the city 2 per cent of its gross annually.

The Skiatron plan calls for programs to be sent to home TV sets by wire, rather than wireless broadcast.

Ike Changes Plans, Flies To His Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower changed his July 4 holiday plans suddenly Wednesday and flew to his farm for a long weekend.

The President's two-engine Aero Commander plane landed here at 7:02 p.m., EDT, after making the 85-mile flight from Washington in 28 minutes.

Eisenhower was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician. Mrs. Eisenhower already is at the farm.

The White House announced earlier this week that the President had decided against spending the Fourth of July at the farm and said he would remain in Washington for the holiday and go to Gettysburg on Friday.

Late Wednesday press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower had changed his mind and would fly to Gettysburg. He plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

U.S. Debt Is $270 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury reported Wednesday the national debt was $270,527,171,896.43 at the end of June — wind up of a fiscal year in which the government made net deposite of $81,874,970,431.52 and had withdrawals of $79,182,970,489.70.

The deposits-withdrawals figures do not mean, Treasury officials cautioned, that there was a surplus of about $2,700,000,000 for the year. The figures contain payments and disbursements into and out of the social security and other trust funds which do not count as budget transactions, and in addition are subject to considerable adjustment.

The Treasury said the amount of the budget surplus will be reported when accounting is completed about July 18 or 19. Secretary Humphrey has said the surplus will be roughly one billion dollars.

The debt at the fiscal year's end amounted to $1,580.72 for each man, woman and child in the country.

This was $41.56 less per person than a year ago, partly because the debt was $2,223,641,752.89 smaller and partly because there were more of us to carry the load.

Deceptive

But the debt figure, shown in the daily Treasury statement issued Wednesday, is a bit deceptive. It represents the government's position as of June 28, the last business day of fiscal 1957.

And because of a new Treasury borrowing, effective Wednesday but not yet reflected in the bookkeeping, the debt already is about three billion dollars higher.

There is a further discrepancy, a mere matter of $107,137,950. This represents "guaranteed obligations" not issued by the Treasury and not shown as part of the "gross public debt."

They are federal obligations nevertheless, and they brought the actual indebtedness at the fiscal-year end to $270,634,309,846.43.

That is an improvement from the all-time high of about $280,800,000,000 recorded at the end of calendar 1955.

Satchmo Set For Bangup Birthday

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (INS) — Satchmo's all set to share another birthday with his Daddy Sam, and cats all over will agree that this Fourth of July fireworks jive is mainly for Louis Armstrong.

Which is to say that the no doubt greatest jazz trumpeter alive will be 57 on Thursday, and solid celebrating is in store when he gets to Newport, R.I., for the jazz festival there.

An ornate birthday party is planned by sponsors of the affair, and Satch could hardly wait while finishing an engagement in the nation's capital, where he referred to Uncle Sam as Daddy.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG
. . . solid celebrating ahead

If Satch seems to feel more like a son than a nephew, it could be because he is the acknowledged "ambassador of jazz" from the U.S. to nearly everywhere else in the world.

"A note's a note in any language," the Satchelmoutn told an interviewer in summing up now he had sent potentates jumping and African natives rioting in eight tours overseas, one sponsored by the State Department.

Louis had just visited the White House, where he had lunch with Vice President Nixon and the executive staff. He talked about Africa where he "toured right behind Nixon," and showed the piano-musically-inclined vice president a picture of Satchmo in striped diplomat's pants.

"I saw everyone except Eisenhower. Was he home?" Satchmo told his band as he strolled, familiar white handkerchief in hand, from the White House gate to a bus which took them to the District of Columbia prison to entertain convicts.

"I like to make the boys happy, do the boys some good," he explained. Some 1,600 inmates in the prison yard listened as raptly as if they were in Carnegie Hall, roared with applause after every number, and made Satch a member of their "Society of the Underdog."

Armstrong had a perfect background for membership. He started playing the trumpet 44 years ago while serving an 18-month term in the New Orleans waif's home for shooting a pistol on New Year's day.

Lost 10-Year-Old, Object Of Search, Walks To Ranch

CASPER, Wyo. (INS — Ten-year-old Bobby Minchow, object of a 50-man search in the rugged Casper mountain area, wandered into a ranch Wednesday and asked, "which way to Casper?"

The youngster suffered no ill effects from sending the night lost on the mountain though he admitted he was scared "just a little."

Young Minchow disappeared from a cabin where he was attending a picnic.

Relating his experience, Bobby said "I walked until I got tired then I laid down and slept. I woke around midnight and began walking again.

He admitted — and his tear-stained face gave him away—that he cried a little. He added "It was cold up there.

Bobby said he was going fishing, but his mother, Mrs. Robert Minchow of Casper, had other plans. She put him to bed.

100 Flee Brush Fire In California

BURBANK, Calif. (INS)—More than 100 persons, including women and children, were evacuated Wednesday as a brush fire threatened their homes in the Verdugo Mountains near Burbank.

Many of the men in the area stayed behind to help firemen battle the fire oy playing hoses on roof tops.

At one time the fire approached within 600 feet of several $50,000 homes.

Substitute Ham

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Broadway trend of having alternates appear in place of lead performers at certain performances each week has spread to the animal kingdom now. Robert Weede, of "Most Happy Fella," and Rex Harrison, of "My Fair Lady," who began the time-off schedule, have been joined by Salomey of "Lil'l Abner." Each Wednesday matinee another porker substitutes on-stage while Salomey appears before the camera for a series of film shorts.

Assist Alcoholic

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam Browning has been named founding executive director of the Christian Approach to Alcoholics, a group organized here to assist alcoholics seeking help in overcoming addiction. Browning says he was once "the biggest drunkard in Alaska." Christian Approach is developing programs for aiding clergymen, ex-alcoholics, and evangelical churches to minister to alcoholics.

When Hurricane Water Seeps Back Into Gulf, Audrey Death Toll May Be Upped To 700

...400 Believed Missing

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — When the waters of hurricane Audrey seep back into the now calm Gulf of Mexico and her full ravages are revealed, the Louisiana coast may count about 700 dead.

The latest official estimate put the figure that high. Sheriff Ham Reid of Calcasieu Parish (County) told reporters Wednesday there are 296 known dead. Dr. Harry Snatic, the parish coroner, quickly added:

"I think at least 400 more persons are missing."

Any accurate total of dead, however, has become more complicated by a new plan to bury the dead of nearby Cameron Parish wherever they are found.

"Why bring that filth into Calcasieu?" asked Dr. Snatic. "That may be a cold statement to make. But why transport these bodies to Lake Charles now? We can do just as good a job at identifying these bodies in the area they are found."

As the death estimate mounted the property damage totals also soared. Carl Durett of Lake Charles, head of General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., which handles insurance claims, put the expected property damage to the state at between 75 million and 100 million dollars.

Also mounting was uncertainty over when and how the city of Cameron will be rebuilt. Should a temporary tent city be set up first? A temporary barracks? Should there be any temporary quarters at all? Neither Red Cross nor Civil Defense officials were sure.

Only one thing was certain—the tiny fishing town on the gulf was not liveable now. Dr. Guillermo Vasquez, the local health officer and the man who would decide if it was, put the situation emphatically:

"Suppose the place was declared habitable now and families moved in. What would their children do? Play in all the debris? Cut their feet on nails and broken glass? Get bitten by all the snakes? And until proper facilities for the disposal of human waste are provided they can't live there."

"When will Cameron be liveable again? There is no accurate determination."

Big Problem

Identification continues to be one of the biggest problems for officials. Of the known dead, 112 are unidentified, and Cameron refugees have become reluctant to pass in front of the pine boxes holding those bodies still not buried.

Dr. Snatic has announced a new system of identification. The personal article — dental work, rings, bracelets — of each body are being collected and displayed on posters. The refugees will pass in front of the posters and seek clues to identity that way.

At Wednesday's press conference, attended by several northern reporters, the coroner defended the separate mass burials of unidentified whites and Negroes.

"That has been a custom in the South since time immemorial," said Dr. Snatic.

Donald Stout, in charge of Red Cross relief for victims of hurricane Audrey, said his agency was prepared to provide money to refugees for food, clothing, medical care, burials, home repair, home rebuilding, furniture and those tools that a person needs for his livelihood.

"It will be a total job," said Stout. "We want to assure the people that there is no shortcut to disaster relief."

Controversial 'Buddy Plan' Is All Over

Lincoln's controversial Police-Fire Department "buddy plan" ended Wednesday night and uniformed policemen began riding together in cruiser cars again.

During the buddy plan trial period, which started in January, a uniformed cruiser officer and a fireman teamed for patrol duty.

This allowed the use of more cruiser cars without hiring additional policemen.

Opposition

The plan was strongly opposed by most of the firemen and many policemen.

Police Chief Joe Carroll said the number of cruiser cars to be used for patrol during a 24-hour period will total 10, compared with 16 during the buddy plan period and with seven before the plan.

He said one-man cars will be used during the daytime and a car has been added to patrol the College View area in the evening.

Motorcycle and detective car officers will supplement the other cruisers, as in the past.

More Trouble For Larsens; Now It's Fire

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—Trouble seems to come in bunches for the Frank Larsen family who farm three miles southeast of Beatrice. A can of gas burst into flame Wednesday and the resulting fire completely destroyed Larsen's only tractor, a combine, badly damaged a cornpicker, lister and machine shed.

The fire broke out when Larsen was filling a five gallon gasoline can from a fuel barrel in the machine shed. The tractor was not running nor was anyone smoking in the area so Larsen was at a loss to explain how the fire started.

Beatrice rural firemen were able to extinguish the flames before the shed was destroyed or the fire spread to other buildings. The loss was not covered by insurance.

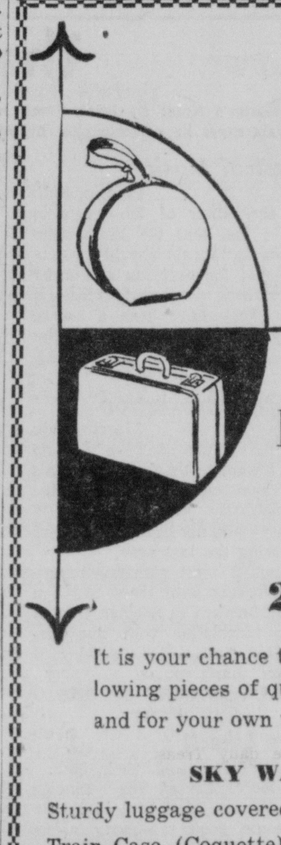

Two members of the family are recovering from broken limbs suffered recently. Mrs. Larsen's mother is scheduled to have her leg removed because of gangrene and there are 53 acres of wheat to combine and corn to cultivate.

Back Where It Started

Hells Canyon, which for a brief period of time pushed out its chest and strutted proudly down Pennsylvania Avenue, was back where it started or, better and more accurately, not back where it started but possibly a couple of miles behind.

We say better. The word for it is "worse."

One of the great tragedies of our times is unfolding in front of our eyes. One of the great power sites of this country is being turned over to the private electric interests, bag and baggage. There are not too many of these and this is the last great site of its kind.

The fact that there are only a few left and the fact that this is the best of the lot does not weigh with a Congress which has missed the boat so many times since January.

The loss of Hells Canyon and the construction of three smaller dams is to be charged to the Eisenhower administration. It must take full responsibility for tossing away one of the country's great natural resources in terms of public power. Ike has been riding high with the geese as a popular idol but in more recent weeks there has been evidence the shine is wearing off and much of his popularity has been lost.

In nothing connected with this administration will the American people have cause for regret that it was in office to a greater extent than the partnership policy and parceling out of valuable power sites to the utility interests.

Another Deathless Holiday?

A year ago Nebraska moved through the July 4 holiday without a traffic fatality. That was an exceptional achievement not duplicated in most states.

This year the National Safety Council expects that between 500 and 600 Americans will die on the highways over the holiday—some because of unpreventable accidents, but most of them as victims of someone's error.

There is nothing inevitable about death or injury on the highway. Nebraska proved that a year ago. No better resolution can be made this morning by all who expect to use their cars than that this year will be a happy repetition of last year.

Last minute advice is to drive a car that is mechanically up to the job. Drive defensively. Allow enough time to make the trip safely. Study the road maps before you start. Know where you are going. Don't distract the driver. Don't try to prove how good you are at high speed. The best form of bravery is in the protection of others.

Final thought is that Nebraska thus far has fewer highway deaths than in any recent year. This holiday is an excellent opportunity to improve that record.

Dedication And Sheer Courage

One hundred and eighty one years ago today a group of founding fathers completed their work on our Declaration of Independence and then posted it high so all the world could see.

Popular history and art have clouded that event. It has come down to so many of us as a stately meeting of composed, secure, enlightened men whose wisdom coined noble phrases by which liberty, independence and human freedom were finally perfectly defined, and which by virtue of that perfection have of themselves worked wonders in the world ever since.

It is true that the sessions were conducted with becoming dignity by men of great understanding whose polished phrases perpetually touch the hearts of beleaguered people everywhere. But the Declaration of Independence was a work of consummate courage, coldly staring down the probability of deadly personal reprisal. It was a dedicated, calculated act calling for the ultimate test against overwhelming odds.

As each man signed the document as a final piece of incriminating evidence to his treason he could not but have reflected that he was in all probability condemning himself to death or ruin. Yet all did it knowing that their cause was physically weak and that even their fellow colonists might falter. Their deep feelings were those experienced by General George Washington when he hesitated briefly as he left Christ Church to be informed that he had been named commander of the revolutionary forces. Washington was not reflecting upon the honor of the commission nor his ultimate place in history. He already had a place in history. He had honor and station. Now he was being asked to throw all that in chancery, his life with it to serve a principle that by any realistic yardstick did not seem to have much chance. By a miracle perhaps, victory.

After victory what but the formidable problems of an incalculable adventure in speculative human relations and nation building? If defeat, then a disservice to all his fellow colonials. Many prudent men would have counseled compromise, a postponement until a better day, or a settlement based on face-saving.

It was to the everlasting service of humankind that there was a noble fearless clear-minded breed of leaders 181 years ago—honest men who could coin words and who then could and would give them real meaning.

There is no American holiday more worthy of perpetual observance than the Fourth of July. It is proper that it is an occasion for relaxation and joy. It is only improper when due thought is not given to the great character of the figures who made it come about—a race of giants whose legacy is a giant nation capable of sponsoring liberty and freedom in any event.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

The telephone rang. On the other end of the line was a Lincoln business man, deeply concerned with any program to avert floods in the Antelope Valley. He is not entirely disinterested. There is where he does business. He reminded the editor of previous talks and concluded with the observation that the dam on the upper Antelope would not have averted Monday's flooding. It resulted chiefly from the runoff of broad, extensive streets in Lincoln—from housetops—hundreds of them—from sidewalks—miles and miles of them—and from broad paved streets running for miles and miles. Whenever nearly a half a foot of water hits a surface of that type somebody and something are going to get wet in a resulting flood.

★

Less than an hour later a staff member told us he had bumped into an engineer of long experience in Lincoln who, lo and behold, had said exactly the same thing that the business man had said earlier in the day. He insisted that the dam could have been in place—ready and prepared to strut its stuff—but it still would not have stopped the flood. It is a matter of some interest—not to block construction of a dam which has been oversold in the purposes it will serve—but that people understand what to expect and do not meet up with a lot of misunderstanding if and when a dam is built on the Antelope on the present selected site. There is to be a meeting shortly, we understand. The "yes" boys will be there to help put over a flood control program which at best could only be partially effective and at the worst could turn out to be a bust. No one may dare to oppose the "yes" boys, not even the engineer although he knows full well that the proposed dam on the upper Antelope is not the chief solution to flooding troubles.

Confirmed By Engineer

★

But the busy beavers are busy, beating drums—wanting to know how much longer this community is going to neglect the Antelope flood program. Here is a good place to suggest that before anything is done it would be well to pull out an engineering study that has been gathering dust and find out what it recommends. We would feel pretty foolish if we went to all the trouble to build a dam which we thought would do a job it cannot do. Foolish as we might feel we would be a little bit more resentful if to protect the lower Antelope we had to set out on an elaborate costly job of stream straightening.

★

There is nothing too particularly complicated about any of this. If once in a lifetime a 10 inch rain were to fall on the sidewalks, the driveways, the paved streets and the roofs of that Antelope Valley drainage district it would flood regardless of what is done. But if we remove obstructions in accordance with the plan worked out by engineers which we employ and take the steps to straighten and broaden the channel most of the time at least we can go to bed without a worry on our minds. It isn't often that a region below the dam complicates a flood control program by reason of so much paving and rooftops as the Antelope. There are too many men who are in a position to know something about all this with serious doubts as to the effectiveness of a dam on the upper Antelope now proposed to be built by the Army Engineers. When interested people get together we trust that unpopular though they may be, those with doubts about the Antelope plan will express themselves.

Better Be Sure Than Sorry

In our book there is a whale of a lot of question back of some phases of the small dam program which naturally had to be blown up and oversold as a part of one of the seven wonders of the world. It has its limitations and these limitations stand out like a sore thumb at times.

Rule By Deceit

Don't look now but if Russian press dispatches are correct you are probably starving to death no matter how much you may have eaten this day.

According to Izvestia the United States is having a hard time. Between the expected exploitation by the plutocrats, taking everything we earn, and a full scale depression we now have four million people in the bread line while 10 million older people are starving to death somewhere outside the city limits. We admit that a bread line might be a welcome innovation. It would make it much easier for us to buy a better car and install air conditioning in our new house, but we hadn't thought of one as a defense against starvation.

It is a commentary on totalitarian governments that the truth about other countries is intolerable, but it is also sad because without question there are a large number of Russians who actually believe what is written to deceive them. Russia may prevail for a while, but in the long run it will pay the price all nations have paid when they set about living by falsifying facts. Unrealism, whether by plan for by ignorance, doesn't fit anywhere in a world that is run by fact. The only concern to us about the latest starvation stories is that we do not let such a practice catch hold here. We will be more secure in knowing the truth about Russia no matter how unwelcome some of it might prove.

Jail Suggested For Press Leaks

WASHINGTON — Loyd Wright, the Los Angeles friend of Vice President Nixon who wants newsmen sent to jail for revealing unauthorized information, has just charged a group of national magazines, newspapers, and columnists as "purveyors of information vital to national security, purloined by devious means" which "gives aid to our enemies as effectively as the foreign agent."

The Army's chief of information, Maj. Gen. Meloy, subsequently informed Congress that he didn't know of a single case where a newspaperman had "stolen or purloined secret military information."

However, since Mr. Wright singled me out among 19 well-known magazines, newspapers, and writers and chose to mention me alone by name, I should like to diagnose the columns to which he refers and let the public decide whether they gave "aid to our enemies." Here are the columns cited by Mr. Wright:

Wake Island conference — On Jan. 23, 1951, I reported the stenographic record of the talk between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur in their mid-Pacific conference at which MacArthur said: "I hope to be able to have the 8th Army back in Japan by Christmas." The conversation included various other direct quotes.

When the New York Times published an almost identical story April 21, 1951, using the same quotes, it was awarded a Pulitzer prize.

Chinese report on U.S. retreat—On Jan. 31, 1951, I published the partial text of a captured Chinese combat bulletin giving the enemy's fighting ability. The report was humiliating to the United States in that it pointed to U.S. inefficiency and lack of morale. However, it revealed nothing to the enemy, since the enemy wrote it.

On the other hand, it pointed to weaknesses which the United States had to cure if it was to win in Korea. The United States has always operated on the theory that it could not only take criticism but benefit from it.

MacArthur's intelligence — On Dec. 30, 1950, I published extracts from Gen. MacArthur's own intelligence reports on the size of the Chinese army which were at wide variance with his own public statements regarding the size of the Chinese army.

MacArthur, in trying to alibi his retreat from North Korea, stated on Dec. 2 that there were about 500,000 Chinese troops in Korea. On Dec. 4 he upped his estimate to more than one million Chinese in Korea or on the border. On Dec. 15 he announced that "a bottomless well of Chinese Communist manpower continues to flow into Korea."

I had reported that the Chinese forces were nowhere near as great as MacArthur had claimed, only to be met with MacArthur's own official denials.

Therefore, on Dec. 30, I published excerpts from the reports of MacArthur's own intelligence chief, Gen. Charles Willoughby, estimating on Dec. 6, two days after MacArthur's million-man announcement, that there were only 96,000 Chinese opposite the UN 8th Army. I also published Gen. Willoughby's report: "Lack of CCF (Chinese Army) on 8th Army front due to deep withdrawal executed by 8th Army, it is evident that enemy, lacking any great degree of mobility, has been unable to regain contact."

Kennedy Living In Glass House

WASHINGTON—Senator John F. Kennedy of Masachusetts has been receiving angry mail from big city states attacking him for voting with the South on the first civil rights test last week. Kennedy is the attractive young politician who got almost enough southern support to put him over for vice-president on the Stevenson ticket last year.

His correspondents suggest that he is only angling for the South's favor again in 1960. The disputed vote actually was on a procedural question, and several Democratic liberals shared the South's view.

That Kennedy is launched upon an expensive and extensive campaign to become the first Catholic president or vice-president of the United States is well known. He can expect that his every vote will be thoroughly dissected by interested groups from here on in.

This is fair. The young senator lacks a record of substantive achievement which would clearly define his political philosophy. He still owes much to the happy circumstances of his birth into a family of great wealth and political appeal.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Kennedy civil rights vote suggests that he would, indeed, like to keep his friends in the South and is aware that the Southerners very often exercise a veto power over Democratic national nominees. As a student of American institutions—his "Profiles in Courage" is a best seller—Kennedy is probably also a conservative in matters of Senate tradition and rules.

But there is much more to the story than that, and it has important meaning for the future of the Democratic party. What has been happening is that the industrial East has not been able to lick the rapidly industrializing Southerners and is doing its best to join them.

This alliance, long in the making, was foreshadowed at the Democratic National Convention last year in the building of the party platform.

Always free traders, Democrats had vociferously supported the reciprocal trade agreements ever since Cordell Hull, a Democratic senator and secretary of state, devised them early in the New Deal. But in 1956, the platform-makers, headed by another man from Massachusetts, House majority leader John McCormack, added something to the customary praise of reciprocal trade. It was a demand, in effect, for protection of "important segments of our economy" from "serious economic injury."

The injury naturally was blamed on the Republicans. But the alleged victim, informed observers realized, was the textile industry of New England and the South.

☆ ☆ ☆

The South's economic changes have been reflected in other ways, notably its cooling-off in matters of foreign policy, especially foreign aid. Senator Herman Talmadge of Georgia, nationalist successor to the great internationalist, former Senator Walter F. George, is a chief spokesman for this new South.

Kennedy is up for re-election next year and can be expected to repeat the promises he has often made to support and defend the economy of New England. The doing of it is just one of his problems as he strives for national stature and the 1960 laurels.

Sensation Was The A-Bomb That Didn't

LAS VEGAS—It's been running 105 degrees fahrenheit here in this pleasant gambling Gomorrah.

The only thing cool in town is the dice.

☆ ☆ ☆

Sign on a gas station leading out of town:

Free Aspirin. Tender Sympathy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The B. T. D. G. O. (Bomb That Didn't Go Off) is still causing more talk about town than the ones that did.

A terrifying hush settled over the desert test site when nothing happened at the climax of that god-like "count down . . . four . . . three . . . two . . . one . . . zero." Just a terrible brooding silence, with men huddled in their trenches, scientists crouching in the blockhouses, reporters and cameramen standing braced on News Nob, the pre-dawn darkness accentuated by heavy density goggles.

A helicopter chattered to the scene from the protection of a nearby mountain. Its radio was in tune with a loud-speaker jeep. And it was a nameless pilot who broke the stunned spell.

"Who wet the wick?" he asked, loud and clear over the speakers.

☆ ☆ ☆

The biggest hit in town is the show at the Flamingo, starring Jack Benny and Gisele MacKenzie. People are flocking to it as if it were a "marker" window. Their violin duet climaxes one of the finest night club acts ever devised. It's Benny's first such appearance, and the master is just super.

Gene Murphy, bugle-blower for Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn, says, "This town has succeeded in giving the tourist more than the wheel and the table. People come here now to play golf on our championship course, or for the boating and fishing on Lake Mead."

True, too. The Desert Inn's golf club is more mirage than reality. The waters that created this oasis and keep it lush are pumped up from six springs on the property. It uses 1,500,000 gallons a day, offsetting the sun.

Lake Mead, which backs up for well over 100 miles behind that incredible shoulder named Hoover Dam, contains enough water to give everybody on earth nine gallons.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Freudian Fido, That's Flapps

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

The R. D. Bossermans of 3138 No. 68th, new arrivals in Lincoln, believe that dogs are just as insecure as small children.

Flapps, their 2½-year-old toy cocker spaniel, is an example in point. When the couple started moving their furnishings out of their Omaha home, the dog suddenly began keeping a close eye on the Bossermans.

She stuck with her masters until the three safely arrived in Lincoln. Then for several days Flapps kept up her constant vigil in her new home.

☆ ☆ ☆

The dog's insecurity came out one day when she met a neighborhood dog and began sniffing around as if she wanted to make friends. But as soon as Mrs. Bosserman spoke to the new friend, Flapps ran the dog right off.

The lively bright-eyed black dog jumps about three and a half feet in the air—straight up. The dog just likes to jump, the Bossermans say.

Flapps is maintained on a special diet of horse-meat, dried curd cottage cheese and dog meal. She is allowed between-meal snacks of her favorites occasionally—cheddar cheese and barbecued potato chips.

☆ ☆ ☆

Flapps doesn't like the family to go out. She would rather have company every night. When she spies Mrs. Bosserman dressing up, she looks up and pouts. If that doesn't work (it never does), Flapps runs out of the house and hides under the car.

Then a little discipline is required to make Flapps understand that such action is not to be tolerated.

Flapps cannot be too unhappy alone for when the Bossermans come home they find a little black cocker greeting them and a warm impression of Flapps on the softest bed.

Could Have Had It

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Governor Anderson's complaint about the disparity between what Nebraska pays in federal income tax and the amount she receives back can be answered in just one sentence. Why did he not see to it that the old folks got the extra $5 million that Congress appropriated for them?

When the governor answers that question then he will have a right to raise a complaint. Colorado receives back $16 million annually more than Nebraska—this because of her more liberal, more realistic pension program. Thus the channels of trade and commerce are provided a return in exchange for the income tax they pay. Getting money back as an offset to that which we pay is as simple as that. It is not material for what purposes we get it back just so long as it gets into the channels of trade and commerce. In so doing the business world gets a return on the tax it pays.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The symbol of infinity looks—like a Figure Eight—that's lazy and lies on its side—so scientists relate.

So when the Senate and the House — on budgets legislate—I wish they didn't think—they had to spend the Lazy Eight.

Supreme Court

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It all depends upon "whose ox is getting gored," as the saying goes.

Who doesn't remember the furor raised by the Republicans back in the days when F.D.R. suggested the possibility of reducing the ultra-conservative elements in our Supreme Court. It appeared that he would be at least impeached, for the suggesting.

Now, Eisenhower's "Modern Republicans," years later, are suggesting that they too are not happy with the Supreme Court and would like to do something about it.

There are, however, two important differences in the two suggested actions, years apart. Number one: F.D.R. thought the Supreme Court too reactionary, too conservative. The Republicans today think it too liberal. Number two: F.D.R. was dealing with a Republican packed Supreme Court. Mr. Eisenhower is dealing with a Supreme Court which he thought he had packed properly with Republicans or quasi-Republicans.

It is this writer's opinion that the Supreme Court today has merely cleared the air and put the brakes on against the utterings and actions of politician-inspired prejudices. They are substituting fact for folly — while reminding us that we are either on a Constitutional basis or off it.

Grandsinger Case

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Comments by the state press on the Grandsinger case give the impression that Nebraskans are being pricked in their consciences.

When Federal Judge John Delehant wrote that Grandsinger's trial "was perverted into a virtual legal lynching" it was really an indictment of our whole state.

The Grandsinger case does not stand alone. For years news items have told of Indians who seem to be getting far less than justice in their relations with their white neighbors. Just recently in a western town an Indian was shot down, apparently in cold blood, and the community gave the case about the same attention a Georgia town would give a Negro. We were told of an Indian girl who was killed resisting rape. No one was punished.

Our papers write nice pieces about grasping the hand of fellowship extended by the noble red man, et cetera. Well, it just seems to me that the best thing we can do for the Indian is to protect his civil rights. I do not think we are doing this. We treat all colored races with a Nazi-like disdain of racial superiority.

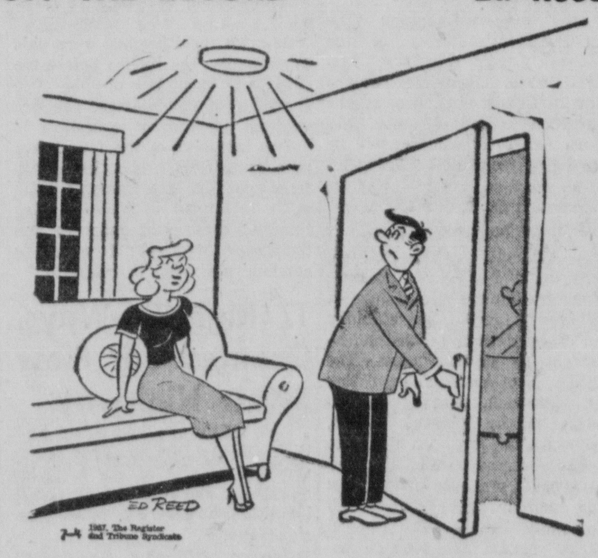

Only recently the administration of the Veterans Hospital here in Lincoln assigned a Negro to a position on that staff. After combing the town it seemed impossible to get a decent place for him to live. He was so much discouraged that he accepted a position elsewhere.

I think we do not realize the cumulative effect of our negligence, disdain or open hostility toward the colored people.

It should be a matter of real concern to every citizen of Nebraska when it requires the intervention of the federal courts to secure justice for colored people — even as in South Carolina.

HIGH COURT WANDERING —HARRISON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Harrison said the United States Supreme Court "is wandering in a wilderness of confused constitutional interpretation."

Harrison noted that he is "not a lawyer by training but many of my colleagues who are lawyers agree with me that the Supreme Court has gone 'off on a tangen.'"

"If the FBI is to be forced to open its files for Communist and their lawyers, all sorts of harm would be done. The effect would be that the government would simply have to drop many prosecutions because it can't afford to open such files to Communists and subversives. Both executive and legislative branches of government are understandably worried over the course of events. The use of FBI evidence will be seriously hampered. The progress and range of congressional investigating committes will be slowed down," Harrison said.

LINCOLN COUNTY INJURY DAMAGE SUIT APPEALED

A transcript was filed with the State Supreme Court by attorneys for Everett P. Sawyer in an appeal from a Lincoln County District Court ruling in a personal injury damage suit.

Sawyer brought the action against John A. Kunkel, also of Lincoln County, after a two-car accident in North Platte Oct. 1, 1955.

Sawyer charged "careless and negligent" driving by Kunkel and sought $56,609.18 for personal injury damages and loss of income and earning capacity, the transcript showed. Kunkel filed a counter claim, asking that Sawyer's suit be dismissed and that Sawyer pay him $160.97 for damages to his car.

The District Court gave a directed verdict in Kunkel's favor, dismissing Sawyer's suit and taxing the court costs to Sawyer.

Sawyer's appeal contends that the lower court had no right to dismiss the case and that the issues should have been presented to a jury.

Two Plead Guilty To Larceny From Person Charges

Two 18-year-old youths pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to charges of larceny from the person.

Ronald H. Walker, Lincoln AFB airman from Baltimore, Md., and Vaughn I. Waln, of 2112 No. 27th, were charged with the June 29 theft of $8 from Joseph R. Beagle "without putting him in fear."

Police said Beagle, who is from Kansas City, Mo., was "rolled" by the two defendants in downtown Lincoln.

The County Attorney's office said Walker's arrest also cleared up the burglary of the Steven Credit Jewelers at 1340 O, when a plate glass window was broken and a $20 bill and three diamond rings worth $235 were taken. Two rings were recovered by police.

Judge John Polk accepted the guilty pleas and deferred sentencing of Walker and Waln pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

FLOOD PREVENTION PLANNING STARTED

City Officials Work On Stepped-Up $1,630,000 Storm Sewer Program

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Action toward flood prevention is taking place on various fronts as an aftermath to Monday's rampage of Antelope Creek following rains which totaled 4.66 inches in six hours.

At the instigation of Mayor Bennett Martin and with the approval of the City Council, Public Works Director D. L. Erickson has promised to submit within 10 days a report on a stepped-up $,630,000 storm sewer program.

Erickson explained this is work previously programmed for both the current construction season and the next one. He said however, he already has taken steps to move the program up a year.

Available funds represent the balance left in the city's $3.5 million storm sewer bond program authorized by voters several years ago. There is $630,000 in money from bonds sold and another $1 million in bonds yet to sell.

The other $1,870,000 has been spent.

There is a limit to what the city can do, Martin said, regarding proposed dams an channel work on Antelope Creek and Dead Man's Run.

However, he said, there is no doubt that some local situations could be improved with more and better storm sewers.

Martin asked also for a report on other work, such as city bridges, that might be moved ahead of the present schedule.

Two Appointed

The city council appointed Councilmen D. L. Tyrrell and Hugh Thorne as Council representatives to serve on an informal flood control committee being organized by the Chamber of Commerce flood control committee.

County representatives on the committee will be Commissioners Del Lienemann and Russell Brehm.

Chamber Committee Chairman Earl T. Luff has scheduled an organizational meeting of the proposed group for next Thursday and has invited representatives of the City Council, City Planning Commission, County Commisisoners, Sanitary District 1, Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association, Lincoln School Board, State Department of Roads and Irrigation and State Game Commission.

Friday Meeting

Possible flood prevention action is expected to be discussed at the Friday meeting of the Sanitary District board.

Board member George Knight said he believed the District should analyze what it has to do and get started.

The Monday flood on Dead Man's Run, he said, "was the worst we have ever had."

Bridge work, channel widening and deepening and other improvements are badly needed along both Dead Man's and Antelope, he said.

Doomed Lad Ends First Act Of 'Last Show'

CHICAGO (INS) —The first act of Red Skelton's show for his leukemia-doomed son drew to a close Wednesday.

But the comedian has promised 9-year-old Richard Skelton that he will see many more "acts" before the curtain rings down on his tragically shortened life.

Richard has been given five months to live. When the comedian learned of Richard's fate, he promised to give his son a "show of the world."

Skelton, his son and daughter, Valentina, 10, flew from Chicago to Los Angeles, completing the "United States act" of the show:

Skelton said:

"We're just going to pick up my wife, who has been packing our bags at home for the rest of the trip. Then, on Friday, we'll take off for Mexico City.

"After that we're going to Spain, Italy, France, Germany, England and Ireland."

Then with fatherly pride, he added:

"You know, it's tough keeping up with my son. He's got a lot of go."

Oklahoma Doctor Found Not Guilty In 2nd Murder

McALESTER, Okla. (INS) — A jury of 11 men and one woman Wednesday night returned a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity in the second murder trial of Dr. Ben T. Galbraith, former prominent McAlester heart specialist.

Galbraith, currently serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife, Kitty, in March, 1955, was on trial for the slaying at the same time of his five-year-old son, Jere.

On the witness stand, Galbraith admitted that he beat his wife over the head with a bottle, then injected morphine and insecticide into her and their three children, and set the house afire with his family inside.

The physician, once president of the Pittsburgh County Medical Society, still may face trial on the murders of the two other children.

Local Legion Post To Elect Officers

Neil "Rusty" Nelson and Roy Boyeson are candidates for the office of commander now held by Miles Johnston.

Other officers to be named and the candidates are:

Vice Commander (three to be elected): Carl Bensel, Bob Crowl and Karl Haller.

Executive Board (three to be elected): Sam Fieselman, John Scott, Bob "Slats" Snyder, Bernard Patton and Marion Snider.

Financial Officer (one to be elected). Don Wood and Cal Remington.

Chaplain: the Rev. C. George Kuhn.

Lincoln General Gets 3 Residents

Lincoln General Hospital will have three residents on its staff this year, according to Administrator Herb Anderson.

The hospital received no medical school graduates this year under the national intern matching program.

Anderson said that Dr. Luther P. Johnson of Valley, who served as an intern during the past year, will continue at the hospital as an obstetrics and gynecology resident.

Dr. Robert Osborn II of Omaha, and Dr. Kenneth Sato of Scottsbluff, will be the other two Lincoln General residents, he said.

Hospital At Lincoln Base Again Cut?

Washington sources reported Wednesday that funds for a hospital at the Lincoln Air Force Base had been cut from the budget.

The Bureau of the Budget eliminated the $2,500,000 project from the Air Forces's 1958 funding program, they reported.

No reason for the cut was given, but a Budget Bureau official was reported to have conferred with "hospital administrators in Nebraska who claimed a base hospital is not needed."

The hospital, which has been discussed since 1955, had been authorized by Congress. The design plans for a 100-bed unit had been nearly completed, and Air Force officials had hoped to ask construction bids by July 1.

Chamber of Commerce and Air Base officials who had promoted the project were not available for comment Wednesday evening.

Air Force officials had explained earlier that funds were available for the hospital, that all they required was permission to spend them.

Workman Gives Concert Crowd Big-Boom Display

DOVER, N.J. (AP)—It was boom, boom, boom and then some even before the band concert got under way here Wednesday night.

The band was to precede a public fireworks display at the Dover High School Athletic Field.

Music lovers filled the high school grandstand in anticipation.

Awaiting the bandsmen, they watched a couple of workmen bringing in the fireworks.

Some $500 worth of the big bang stuff arrived on a four-wheel trailer hauled by a farm tractor.

One of the workmen, for reasons police didn't learn immediately, decided to set off an aerial flare.

It went off satisfactorily, then drifted down wind.

You guessed it, $500 worth of firecrackers went up too.

The trailer was demolished. The Fire Department put out a blaze on the tractor.

No one, fortunately, was injured.

Young Capital City Of 1871 Included New Two-Block NU Campus

By HARRIET ASHLEY
Star Staff Writer

In 1871 the city of Lincoln centered around O street and boasted six real estate agencies, 5 state legislators at the Statehouse and a University of Nebraska campus that covered two square blocks.

This information appears on a map owned by Fritz Harris of 2026 Ryons. Harris said the map was purchased by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Shuckman, when they moved to Lincoln in 1871.

His grandparents owned a grocery store at 14th & M. Harris said his grandmother had told him that the only boarding house in town at the time was next to the present Journal-Star Printing Co. building.

Lincoln had two hotels, Atwood House at 9th & P and Clifton House at 12th and N. The real estate firm of Sherwood and Ghost said in its advertisement on the map that it was "one of the oldest agencies in central Nebraska."

Bank At 10th & O

James Sweet and Brock were the bankers at 10th and O and the attorneys, also on O, were Seth Robinson and E. E. Brown, and J. R. Hardenburg.

A. A. Arrison and [illegible], furniture dealers, gave "special attention" to undertaking.

The Star Bakery and Confectionery offered "all kinds of large cakes made for parties and balls" and "bread of every description."

David Butler was serving the state as governor and W. H. James was secretary of state. George A. Roberts was attorney general and D. P. Mason, chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Five Additions

The city was growing with Hulls South, Dawson's, Lavender's, Kinney's and Eaton's Additions. The boundaries were 1st to 27th and U to South Streets.

C. N. Baird was Lincoln postmaster and A. B. Smith and John Gillespie were in the state offices of engineer and auditor.

The city had four elementary schools and a high school, a park, governor's mansion, court house, "market space" and State Historical Society plotted on the map, in addition to seven churches.

The churches were all located between 9th and 15th and J and N.

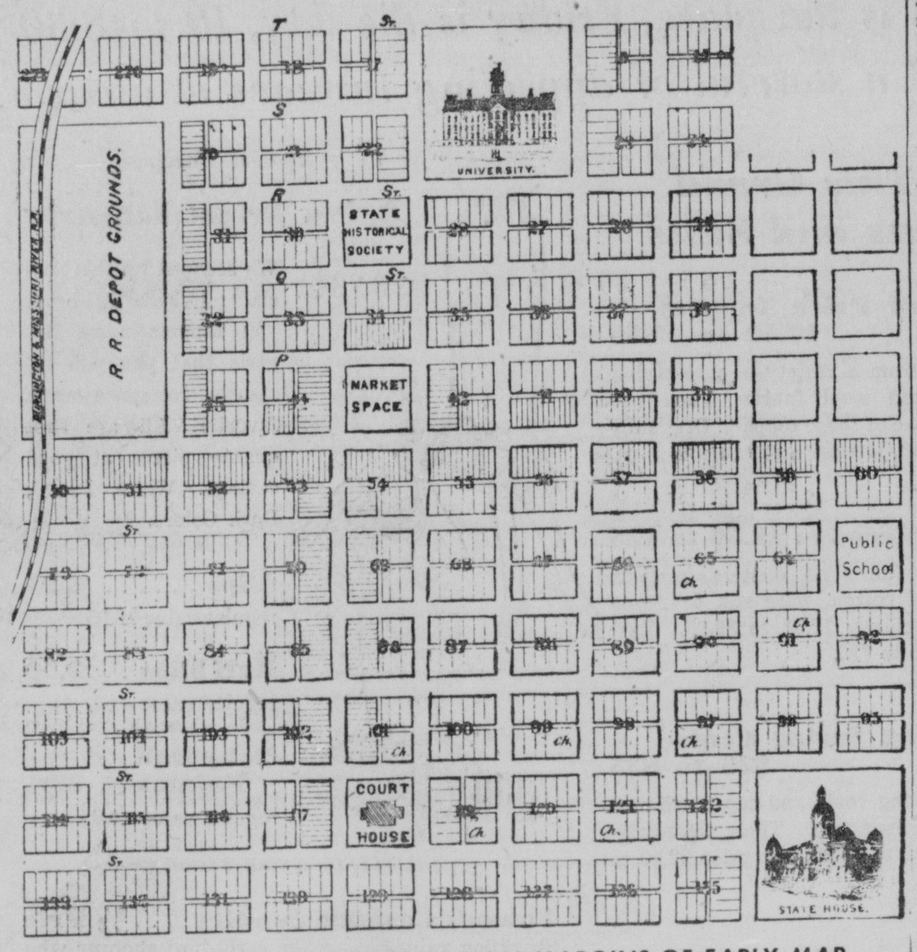

20 Students At NU

Twenty students were enrolled in the University of Nebraska in the fall of 1871, its first year. Since then a total of more than 300,000 persons have studied there.

Today the University has expanded to an area of 36 blocks on the city campus alone. Its physical plant investment is estimated at about $40 million.

There are 42 University buildings on the city campus, 27 on the College of Agriculture campus and 11 at the College of Medicine in Omaha.

Convict Gets One Year For Bank Burglary

Charles Austin Turner, 24, of Mason City was sentenced to a year and a day imprisonment by U.S. District Judge John W. Delehant for the Feb. 1, 1956, burglary of the Mason City State Bank.

Turner, who is now serving a two-year term at the Nebraska Penitentiary on a no-fund check charge, will begin his federal sentence at the expiration of the current state term, according to the court judgment Wednesday.

Attorneys informed the court that Turner would prbably be discharged from the state prison in September.

A federal jury last February found Turner guilty as charged in breaking and entering the bank and stealing a gun and a box containing about $20 worth of pennies.

Father's Gun

The gun belonged to Turner's father, Joe R. Turner, who is the bank's cashier, according to trial testimony.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Delehant denied defense motions for arrest of judgment, a directed verdict of acquittal or a new trial.

The court-appointed defense attorney had contended the grand jury indictment contained a defect in the bank burglary charge.

The government's case was based on Turner's signed confession, which the defendant later refuted, and testimony of a key witness.

Killed By Lightning

NEOLA, Ia. (INS)—A 40-year-old Neola area farmer was killed when a bolt of lightning struck him and his son as they were working in a field.

He was Joseph Turner, who lived on Rural Route 1. His eight-year-old son, Bill, who was knocked to the ground but not injured, said they had been hoeing weeds when the bolt struck.

The boy said he tried to revive his father, and failing, ran for help. A doctor summoned to the field pronounced him dead.

Turner is survived by his widow and two other sons and three daughters.

Tax Collections For School Board Less Than Budget

Tax collections for the Lincoln School District were $127,139 less than the school budget for the year ending June 30, according to the office of David Sell, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs.

Tax funds totalled $6,024,700, compared to the expected collection of $6,151,839.

This was only 97.93 per cent of the budget and was the first time in several years that the tax collections have not reached 100 per cent.

Cherwell Dies

LONDON (INS) — Lord Cherwell, wartime advisor and close friend of Sir Winston Churchill, died in Oxford at the age of 71.

Cherwell, whose given name was Frederick A. Lindemann, died a short time after becoming ill in his room in Christ Church College.

Probe Denied

LONDON (AP)—The British government formally denied a press report that intelligence experts are investigating a suspected leakage of naval atomic secrets to a foreign spy.

The London News Chronicle said Monday "a major disclosure against national security" was being investigated in the quiet, residential city of Bath. Various secret naval research establishments are located nearby.

SOVIET FIRINGS SWEEP AWAY LAST OF THE STALINISTS

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON, Thursday (AP) — The firing of four leaders of the Soviet Communist Party was viewed here Thursday as a sweeping away of the remaining Stalinists in the party hierarchy.

Experts in Soviet affairs called it a victory for Nikita S. Khrushchev.

In Belgrade, Yugoslavia, observers said Khrushchev and his group, struggling for predominance, finally had succeeded in mustering enough support for a showdown with the Stalinists.

Repercussions

The purge will have big political repercussions in Yugoslavia. The four top men purged from the leadership were accused of standing in the way of a resumption of normal relations with Belgrade and of resisting the doctrine that there are many "roads to socialism". This is at the base of the Belgrade-Moscow split touched off by Stalin in 1948.

Some observers in Belgrade said Khrushchev probably had to join the Stalinist group in the Kremlin when his position was threatened by the diehards in the wake of the Hungarian revolution. But Khrushchev prepared his countermoves during the recent lull, they said.

In Communist East Germany, Red leaders quickly fell into line, saying Khrushchev had purged an "anti-party group." But the German puppet government itself is bossed by a Stalinist, Walter Ulbricht, who has been linked with such old-guarders as Molotov.

Profound Effects

The composition of the new Politburo is bound to have profound repercussions throughout the Communist world.

Fired from full membership in the Presidium were Georgi M. Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and Lazar M. Kaganovich. Fired as an alternate Presidium member and as a Communist Party secretary was Dmitri Shepilov.

Dropped from the new Presidium were Maxim Saburov and Mikhail Pervukhin, top-ranking Soviet industrialists.

Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich were oldtime right-hand men to Joseph Stalin.

Eased Out

Malenkov was premier and party first secretary after the dictator's death. Khrushchev eased him out of the leading party position and later was instrumental in causing Malenkov to step down as premier with a confession of inability to do the job.

It is believed Malenkov and the others rejected Khrushchev's thesis, delivered at the 20th Congress, that Stalin's rule was a despotic one which harmed the Soviet Union.

Shepilov, who lost his job as one of the secretaries of the Communist Party, is a former editor of Pravda and a propaganda expert. He was foreign minister briefly but was replaced by career diplomat Andrei Gromyko last February.

Struggle Continues

The development confirmed a suspicion long held in the West—that a desperate struggle for power continued in the Kremlin even after the collective leadership appeared to have settled its major differences with the execution of Police Boss Lavrenty Beria in December, 1953.

It is apparent the struggle over world and internal policy has gone on unremittingly.

Molotov's alleged hindering of the policy of "peace among peoples" might easily be attributed to roles he played in the Soviet Union's break with Tito of Yugoslavia in 1948 and in other measures inspired by Stalin. Up to now, Beria has been called the inventor of the Tito break.

At the time of that break, Malenkov was Stalin's private secretary and Molotov was his foreign minister. Kaganovich was his industrial expert — and reported brother-in-law. He was the only Jewish member of the Politburo.

Pravda's blasts Wednesday against those attempting to run counter to "Marxism-Leninism" warned that the party could not become a "debating club," under the guise of freedom of expression or criticism. It said party discipline must be the same for high and low alike.

The news of the dismissals was broadcast first by Moscow Radio's Arabic language and Turkish language transmissions.

By late evening it still had not been broadcast into the Russian language to the 200 million citizens of the U.S.S.R.

LAW SUIT DEFENDANT POINTS OUT BUM FACT IN 'BUM STEER' STORY

The "bum steer" story in the June 20 issue of The Star had a bum fact, according to Leslie L. Blauvelt, Lincoln auctioneer and a defendant in the law suit.

The story reported that Lancaster County Judge Herbert Ronin awarded $25 damages for each of five heifers that "freshened" and $117.80 bid on a bum steer.

The trial evidence was that the animals had not freshened before they were sold by the plaintiff and the story was in error on that point.

The plaintiff, Roy A. Sankey of 500 No. 63rd, charged in his suit that five cows in his herd had been bred by a "scrub bull" which was sold to him by the defendants at auction as a "steer."

Blauvelt and the second defendant, Albion Fictum, a cattle buyer and the former owner of the auctioned animal, disputed Sankey's evidence, contending that the plaintiff had not held the five female cattle long enough to tell if they were going to calve.

Following trial and submission of attorneys' briefs, Judge Ronin awarded Sankey a $242.80 judgment against Blauvelt and Fictum.

The judgment included $125 damages for the heifers and $117.80 paid for the "bum steer."

Hogs Help Lift Farm Price Index

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics said Wednesday that the index of prices received by Nebraska farmers increased five points during the month ending June 15.

A sharp increase in the price of hogs along with price increases for cattle, calves and sheep were primarily responsible for the increase, division figures showed.

The index, at 263 per cent of its 1909-14 average, compared with 258 a month earlier and 245 in June a year ago. The all livestock and livestock products index advanced five points during the month to reach 280 per cent, 27 points higher than a year ago. On the other hand, the division explained, the index of all crops dropped three points to 211 per cent, and was 12 points below June a year ago.

Corn Unchanged

Corn, at $1.28 per bushel, was unchanged from mid-May, but 18 cents below a year ago. Wheat was one cent lower in mid-June, at $1.94, while rye was off two cents, at 99 cents per bushel.

Oats slipped four cents to 73 cents per bushel, barley declined nine cents fo 95 cents per bushel and grain sorghum was off five cents at two dollars per cwt.

Baled hay at $15, recorded a sharp decline of $5.00 per ton from last month. Alfalfa seed remained unchanged at $28.50 per cwt. Soybeans were off nine cents, slipping to $2.90 per bushel, while dry beans remained unchanged at $6.30 per cwt.

Hog prices averaged $18.30 per cwt on June 15, a sharp increase of one dollar over the previous month. Cattle, at $20.50 per cwt., were 20 cents higher than in mid-May and calves advanced 10 cents to reach $20.50 per cwt.

Sheep Up 20c

Sheep were up 20 cents to $5.40 while lambs were off 50 cents at $20.90 per cwt. Wholesale milk and butterfat held to the mid-May average at $3.65 per cwt. and 59 cents per pound, respectively.

Eggs, at 23.6 cents per dozen, were off .4 cent from last month.

Feed prices were down slightly from the May 15 level, according to division figures. Prices for mixed dairy feed, mixed hog feed, beef concentrate, bran, middlings, soybean meal, linseed meal and meat scraps were five to 10 cents cwt lower than a month ago, while cottonseed meal and laying mash showed no change.

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

The other day we bussed down the Via Appia and in the afternoon we hailed to see the ruins of Pompei.

There is a very modern commercial entrance. A little stucco building with a uniform ticket-taker who charged us 200 lire (50 cents).

From the entrance you wander up a garden path to a huge Roman gate. A passageway reaches upward to a hole of light at the end. The patnway was full of husky young Italians.

"You taka da chair lady. Up heel alla way, lady."

The ladies all hired chairs. Five dollars. The porters grasped the poles at each end. And after a halfblock of minor grade we came out at Pompei. Flat as a floor. Tourists are rich and foolish. Foolish people should be separated from their riches.

We took a 2750-lire guide along with us. From the Association of Pompei guides. He was an elegant little man in a straw hat and slightly soiled collar. He spoke as though he had opened the ruins himself.

"This is the forum, ladies. When we excavated here we found the statue of Appolio."

He pointed out the wine shop and made little sure-fire corny jokes.

He showed us the baths—"When we excavated this site ladies, we found this intact."

He took us to the house of the bachelors. He showed us the fine preserved paintings.

* * *

While the ladies looked at the red-and-black frescoes, the guide drew me to one side.

"We have a special room in the house.Shall I show it to the ladies?"

"What is in it?"

"Paintings and statuary. You know." He gave me a wink.

"I do not know. I am a stranger here."

"They are not nice paintings. It was an entertainment room."

"Why don't you ask the ladies, themselves??"

"Ah," said the guide, "you know hem better than I do."

He went on showing us the gardens and the well-preserved home. The bachelors in those days lived well, is what I thought.

"And now the room—?"

* * *

I explained the situation to the ladies. The ladies looked at each other. The guide looked very scientific. Like an excavator.

"They are paintings of a kind done in the ancient days," he said. "If you wish—. Well, it is nothing to me. We must look on it as ancient art."

The ladies decided they could look at it the same way. The guide dug me in the ribs and pointed out the better corners.

The ladies all came out and got in their chairs again. The guide gave us a fast brush past the bakery. "When we excavated here, etc."

He took us down by the entrance. He said it was customary to tip the guide. Especially when they showed you the entertainment room. I gave him a tip.

The ladies were paying off their porters. They paid them 3000 lire. One lady gave each porter 1000 lire tip.

"How much should I give?" said the lady. "I gave him 500. He says it is not enough."

"He should give you change. I would give them 300 for the pair."

The porters moaned.

"You no geeva da teep, lady, we no eat. Geeva da teep, I drinka good bottle vino to you tonight."

We went out the entrance with the porters hurling praise and scorn. According to the teep. A little postcard-seller hung on my arm. He gave me flashes of pictures. I told him I had already seen the house of the bachelors.

"From the new excavations, Signor. In the old part ees nothing. In the new part, they knew how to live!"

U.S. Officials Question Whether Lower Down Pay On Homes To Be Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials said Wednesday there is a "serious question" whether the lower down payments permitted in the new housing bill will be ordered into effect even after President Eisenhower signs the measure.

The housing agencies favor the liberalized terms on home loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), it was reported. But some top administration advisers were said to oppose them for anti-inflationary reasons.

Officially the FHA was silent. The bill authorizes—but does not direct—FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason to reduce the down payment to 3 percent on the first $10,000 of an FHA-insured mortgage.

Administration sources disclosed privately that some agencies now reviewing the bill find two grounds for opposition to the down payment terms.

These agencies argue that easier mortgage credit could add a little more spin to the inflationary spiral, and that home building has perked up recently without any help.

Jittery

The home builders are jittery, nevertheless, and are aware of the contrary sentiment in some government quarters. President George S. Goodyear of the National Assn. of Home Builders issued a statement calling on Eisenhower not only to sign the bill but to "direct" FHA to adopt the new terms.

"There should be no delay in making these terms available to the many housands of American families who have been squeezed out of the housing market because they could not afford the large down payments under the old law," he said.

Lenders take the view generally that the bill could increase the demand for new housing but would do very little to increase the available supply of loan money. A spokesman for the National Savings and Loan League predicted the bill "will do little if anything to raise the level of mortgage lending this year," regardless of the final decision on down payments.

Kingery Awarded $207,021 In LAFB Building Contracts

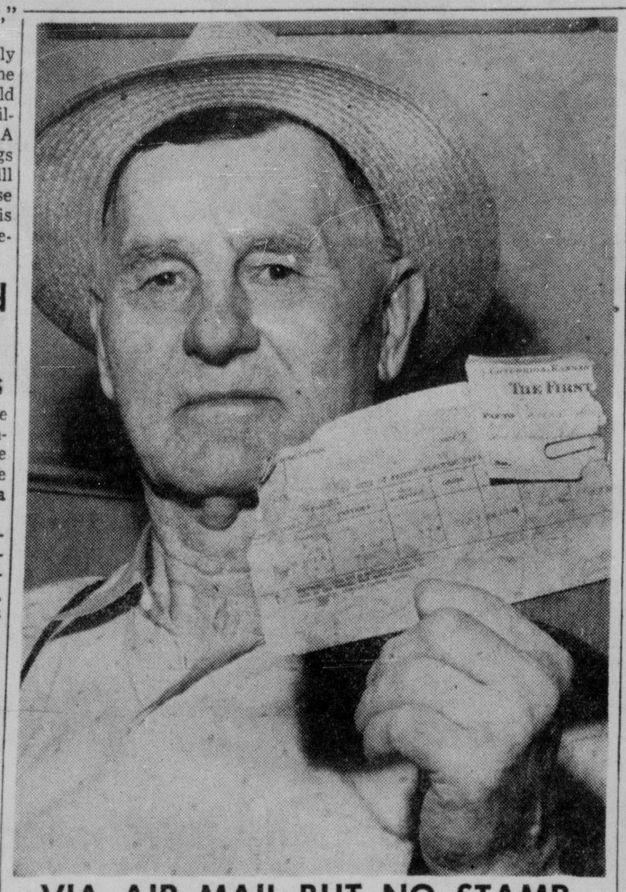

Contracts totaling $207,021 have been awarded the Kingery Construction Co. of Lincoln for five projects at the Lincoln Air Force Base, including the building of a commissary.

Construction is expected to begin this month and the commissary is to be completed by January, according to Bill Sorenson, Office Engineer of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The apparent low bids include $152,417 for the construction of the commissary building, $11,853 for exterior utilities, $2,632 for top soil, sodding and planting, $36,951 for hangar roof repair and $3,168 for electrical distribution equipment at the Eighth Air Force installation.

Omaha Woman,43 Dies From Auto Accident Injuries

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Everly Swanson, 43, Omaha, injured in a car-truck crash June 25 in Omaha, died tonight at a hospital. A blood clot was given as the cause of death. The death was the 123rd from traffic accidents in Nebraska this year.

VIA AIR MAIL–BUT NO STAMP

Charles Bartek of 2239 So. 19th, holds some tattered utility bills and a receipt, dated September, October and November, 1948, and a fragment of a check from a Concordia, Kan., bank, which were found Sunday, June 30, in a cornfield on his farm four miles south of Valparaiso approximately 115 miles from Concordia. The bills are from the "City of Friend Electric Department" about 45 miles from Valparaiso to the "Masonic Hall." Bartek's son, Stanley, who farms the land, discovered the utility bills still clipped together with a paper clip. He found the check fragment nearby. Bartek theorized that perhaps a strong windstorm which hit the area the previous week may have borne them to the field. (Star Photo)

Navy Air Station Skipper Requests Trial For Eleven

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—The commanding officer of the naval air station announced Wednesday that he has recommended courts-martial for 11 Marine guards accused of "hazing" brig prisoners.

Capt. Albert H. Wilson said the 11 had been relieved of duties. He said he is recommending general courts-martial for four of the Marines and special courts-martial for the other seven.

Capt. Wilson said details of the alleged maltreatment of prisoners will not be available until Rear Adm. R. S. Clarke, chief of the Naval Air Advanced Training Command here, has made his decision on Wilson's recommendations.

General courts-martial sentences allow maximum punishment of dishonorable discharge from the service in addition to confinement and other penalties. Special courts-martial are limited to a maximum of a bad conduct discharge, confinement and other penalties.

Flu Slows Down Foreign Students On Way Home

SALT LAKE CITY (INS) — A busload of 35 foreign students who arrived in Salt Lake City from San Francisco Monday night on a tour were isolated Wednesday at Westminster College after 18 of the group were stricken with "Oriental flu."

The students had been scheduled for two days of sightseeing and fun here under auspices of the American Field Service.

Bartlett Wicks, AFS director for Utah, said their trip will be delayed four or five days.

The students were to have spent two days in Lincoln at the end of this week, touring the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus and spending part of their time in private homes here.

WELL HERE I AM AGAIN YOU WONDERFUL CORNHUSKERS—Wonder how I managed to hang on to the front row on O Street but due to the fact you fine people have helped me before and now maybe I can call on you again for help—I have a new supervisor—and man you should hear this character go . . . (I think that he is really gone—maybe back to Texas I hope) (If he sees this I might go first)—he came in last week and wanted to know if I was the new warehouse for the chain—git rid of this stuff!—Get it out of here—I think that he broke the sound barrier the way he can scream—even the cockroaches in the basement all scattered—if he wants it that way you people are going to be lucky again (that is if you can stand reading this article)—just say a prayer for me as I love you Lincoln people and you paying customers! Did you hear something pop? Terrace Party Honors Guests

Who would mind a warm July evening when there was a Terrace Party on hand—a pre-Fourth-of-July affair for which Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner were host and hostess at their home on Wednesday evening in courtesy to their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Farley and their daughters, Pamela, Penelope, Patricia and Portia, of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

We might add that the party really was for the young set, with the four Farley daughters as the guests of honor. Anyway, there was a combo, a buffet supper—and perhaps a sparkler or two, we wouldn't know.

Mr. and Mrs. Farley and their daughters will go from Lincoln to Estes Park where they will spend their summer holiday. Incidentally, this is the first time the Misses Farley have been in the mid-west.

BRIDES

A July bride-elect whose wedding will take place on Saturday, July 20, is Miss Sharre Lynn Freeland who will become the bride of Ormand Plautz.

As matron of honor for her wedding, which will take place at 8 o'clock in the evening at Trinity Lutheran Church, the bride-to-be has chosen her sister, Mrs. Tom Houchen, and her bridesmaids will be Mrs. Don Love, Miss Adeline Boles and Miss Janet TeSelle. Miss Becky Behrens will be flower girl.

Raymond Walin will serve Mr. Plautz as best man, and the ushers will be Kenneth Becker, Darwin Bacon, and Larry Behrends.

The wedding of Miss Ann Pearce and Gary Lazerus of Reseda, Calif., will take place Saturday afternoon, July 6, at the Lincoln Air Force Base chapel. On Friday evening, Maj. and Mrs. Robert C. Pearce will honor their daughter and her fiance at a pre-nuptial dinner to be held at their home. The guest list will include members of the wedding party and families. Coming from out of town will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nemitz of Reseda, parents of Mr. Lazerus; and Mrs. L. J. Zellmer and Mrs. J. B. Baker, both of Birmingham, Ala., grandmothers of the bride-elect.

Miss Pearce was hostess last Saturday when she entertained the feminine members of her bridal party at a luncheon held at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Club.

Attending the bride-to-be as maid of honor will be Miss Patricia Trexler of Abilene, Tex., and the matron of honor will be Mrs. Robert Taylor. Miss Pamela Hayes will be bridesmaid, and Miss Kay Pearce will be her sister's junior bridesmaid.

Ray Shannon will serve as best man, and seating the guests will be Michael Lazerus of Reseda, Calif., brother of the bridegroom, Johnny Spencer and James Bryant. Charles Pearce, brother of the bride, will light the candles for the 4 o'clock service.

The marriage of Miss Ann Bowling and Dale Peterson will be an event of Sunday, Aug. 4, and the bride-to-be has announced that the service will take place at the Sheridan Baptist Church.

As her maid of honor, Miss Bowling has named Miss Helen Shilhan, and her bridesmatron will be Mrs. John Price. Miss Susan Tippery will be the flower girl, and lighting the candles for the 7:30 o'clock evening ceremony will be Miss Bowling's brother, Milton Bowling, and Miss Colleen Peterson, sister of the bridegroom-elect.

Frank Klapal will serve Mr. Peterson as best man.

Was Hostess At Luncheon

Mrs. J. J. Grovert, leader of the Lincoln Woman's Club Bible Department, was hostess at a dessert luncheon last Thursday at the club house. Her guests were department officers and committee chairmen who discussed plans for the coming year.

PBX Club Plans Picnic

Members of the PBX Club of Lincoln will meet for a 6:30 o'clock picnic supper on Monday evening. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Armagost, 3008 Vine.

Awarded Fellowship

A Nebraskan who is winning honors for herself on the west coast is Dr. Ardis June Lostroh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lostroh of Malcolm, who recently was awarded a $5,450 March of Dimes research fellowship from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska (with distinction) where she also received her Masters Degree, Dr. Lostroh received her doctorate in biochemistry from the University of California in June, 1956, and the last year has served as a research endocrinologist in the Hormone Research Laboratory at the University of California in Berkeley.

The March of Dimes fellowship will give Dr. Lostroh a year of advanced training in laboratory research at the experimental Embryology Laboratories, College of Paris, France, where she will study under Dr. Etienne Wolff, director of the laboratories.

A Happy Fourth Of July

WELL, here it is — the Fourth of July with weather to match —Our news graph this morning soared with the thermometer and as a result we have a variety of interesting topics of conversation.

There are, as one might suspect, some additional guests who are arriving for the Fourth of July holiday — and there is news also, of guests who already are in town and for whom family parties have been planned.

* * *

AMONG the already-here guests are Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon Paine and their twin sons, Steven and Gordon — and their daughter, Zoe, who arrived from Haddonfield, N. J., a few days ago to be the guests of Mrs. Paine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Roberts; her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Tisdale, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Rcberts.

And to make the family reunion a complete success will be the arrival this morning of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roberts and their children, Barbara and Bruce, who are coming from Kansas City — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heinzelman, son-in-law and daughter of Mr and Mrs. Roberts, and their children, Carol and Kristy who also will arrive today from Falls City, and with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roberts and their children, will remain through the week-end.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be host and hostess at a Fourth of July supper.

* * *

BUT BACK to Mrs. Paine — just long enough to tell you that on Tuesday morning she was honored at a coffee when her mother, Mrs. Julian Roberts, entertained the members of Mrs. Paine's PEO Chapter, DM, and other friends.

* * *

FROM Palo Alto, Calif., this morning will come Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller who will spend a few weeks as the guests of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Srb. Mrs. Miller, as you doubtless remember, is the former Lois Srb, Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska.

From Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Miller will go to Houston, Tex., where Mr. Miller is to be associated with an oil company, and where they will reside.

And there are to be other guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Srb for Fourth of July, and perhaps the week-end. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Srb and their daughter, Deborah Ann, will arrive this morning from Des Moines.

* * *

DOWN from Omaha today will come Mrs. D. B. Porter, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson and their four children, Robin, Dickie, Sandy and Charlie, who will be the holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. DuTeau will entertain at a picnic supper at their home for all members of their family.

* * *

ARRIVING from Mt. Pleasant, Mich., in time for the Fourth and to spend a week in Lincoln was Miss Mary Ellen Case who is the house guest of Miss Helen Kalin. Miss Kalin and her guest were former classmates at St. Mary's Of the Woods, Terre Haute, Ind.

* * *

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Carter Iddings will entertain the members of their dinner club on Saturday evening at their home. In addition to the 12 members there will be one guest couple — Mr. and Mrs. William Stanford Olson (Joyce Johnson).

* * *

HEAR that when September rolls around Miss Courtney Campbell will be off and away to Dallas, Tex., where she is to be a member of the Dallas public schools faculty the coming year.

* * *

JUST discovered we'd missed a few names on our guest list—So, we want you to know that Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Patterson are expecting house guests on Friday—Arriving from Riverside, Calif., will be Mrs. Patterson's grandmother, Mrs. William F. Grosshans; her aunt, Mrs. Hugh Walter, Mr. Walter and their daughter, Gretchen. The visitors also will be the guests of Mrs. Patterson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Swanson, and will visit relatives in Sutton and Alliance before returning home.

* * *

AND FROM Denver on Friday will come Dr. William Wilson who will be the week-end guest of his mother, Mrs. Claude S. Wilson.

* * *

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. Duane Rankin of Iowa City, Ia., have announced the birth of a son, Michael Duane, on Friday, June 28, at University Hospital in Iowa City. Mrs. Rankin is the former Mary Jane Mapes, Gamma Phi Beta at Nebraska, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mapes. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rankin of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

To Be Autumn Bride

MISS SHIRLEY HAND

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Hand of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley, to Lt. Darrell DeGraw, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeGraw of Mitchell.

An early autumn wedding is planned.

Miss Hand is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Towne Club.

Lt. DeGraw, now stationed with the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., is a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Marriage Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Marta Devine of Iron Mountain, Mich., to Henry Dorenbach of Lincoln which took place on Wednesday evening, June 26 at the St. Mary Queen of Peace Church in Iron Mountain. The 6:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Joseph Gondek.

The attendants were Mrs. Dorenbach's daughter, Mrs. Edward Briggs; and her son George Devine.

For the ceremony the bride wore a powder blue frock of net, with white accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of stephanotis. Mrs. Briggs wore a frock in the jonquil yellow tone, and her accessories were white. Her corsage was fashioned of yellow pompons.

Mrs. Dorenbach is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wells of Lincoln. She attended the University of Nebraska and was a member of the Lincoln public schools faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorenbach will reside in Lincoln and their address, after July 15, will be 1809 G St.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

After talking to Eastborough friends this morning about Fourth of July plans we discovered the most popular slogan to be ". . . if weather permits." But knowing Eastborough-ites as we do, rain or shine, they will be joining in the festivities of the holiday. However, sparklers and fire works aren't the only centers of attraction this morning. There is news of house guests, vacationer, and farewell courtesies.

Farewells were said to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Petersen and son, Wally, on Wednesday when they departed from their home on West Rio Road, and began their journey to Lake City, Fla., where they will reside.

And we understand the Petersens had lots of fun in store for them before they left the neighborhood — what with farewell courtesies and all. It was on Monday evening when a group of their friends on West Rio Road entertained in their honor at a swimming party. The gathering was held at Eastborough Pool.

Conversed a few moments with Mrs. Don Lehr and learned that she and her family have been busy during the summer months. A recent guest in the Lehr home was Mrs. Lehr's sister, Mrs. Bill McCormick of Los Angeles, Calif., formerly of Lincoln. We might add that the plane trip to Lincoln was a special event for Mrs. McCormick for it had been 15 years since she had visited her former home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Lehr and their son, Steven, entertained at a patio party to compliment their guest during her visit in Eastborough. On hand for the dinner and social evening besides the Lehrs and Mrs. McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. Orville Van Hook, Pam and Buddy; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Uhler, Mr.and Mrs. Leonard McManaman, Ricky and Linny Lou; Mr. and Mrs. P. L. McManaman, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Gagne, Susie and Ricky.

Then we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Lehr and Steven recently enjoyed a trip to Colorado. The threesome spent five days camping, driving and viewing Estes Park and other popular vacation spots in Colorado.

We've rolled out the old red carpet and dusted off the welcome mat for a new member to the bassinet set in Eastborough. Arriving at Bryan Memorial Hospital on Sunday, June 17, was Brian Joel Skupa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Skupa. And greeting young Brian on Sunday afternoon besides his parents were his maternal grandparents, Mr.and Mrs. Curtis Ressel of Plainview. His paternal grandfather is John Skupa of Hastings.

It's time now to get in another word—or two—of visitors in the suburb. There is much ado at the home of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Harrison D. Wells where all of Mrs. Wells' family has arrived for a visit. Included in the guest list are Mrs. Wells' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morrison of Norman, Okla., and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison and their twin sons, Gregory Lee and Douglas Lee of Corpus Christi, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left on Thursday for a short vacation in Illinois and will return today to remain for an extended visit before the two families will leave for their homes in Oklahoma and Texas.

During their stay with the Wells family, the guests will be present to honor Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Wells' sons, H. D. II, and Donald Glenn on their birthday anniversaries. H. D. will be 10 on the ninth of July and Donald will celebrate his seventh birthday on the Fourth of July.

Betrothal Announced

MISS JANET MIERS

This morning Mrs. Clell Miers of Garland makes announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Janet Louise, to Robert J. Mellon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Mellon of Philadelphia, Pa.

The wedding is planned for Saturday morning, Aug. 24, and the ceremony will be solemnized at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Demo Cites A Threat To Other Bills While Senate Debates Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A southern Democrat hinted Wednesday that much of President Eisenhower's legislative program might go down the drain while the Senate is battling over civil rights.

The way Sen. Robertson (D-Va) put it was that the Republicans, if they insist on a showdown on civil rights, must shoulder the responsibility for putting through the rest of the program in the waning session.

The GOP is in the minority in both the Senate and House.

Robertson discussed the situation after Eisenhower rejected the idea of having his civil rights program passed on in a national referendum. The President told his news conference he didn't know of any provisions in the Constitution for putting the question up to the people in such a way.

Robertson said a statement on GOP responsibility will probably be made on the Senate floor Friday by Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the southern opposition to civil rights legislation.

Behind the southern Democratic maneuvering was a threat of a Senate filibuster on the civil rights bill which would suspend all other legislative business there for weeks.

Eisenhower expressed his referendum views when asked about Russell's proposal to submit the civil rights issue to a national vote. The Georgian said that if the people became acquainted with the bill now before the Senate they would defeat it "overwhelmingly."

On such issues as civil rights, the President said, he thinks "that the Constitution contemplates that there are responsible officials within the federal government that have to act."

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's GOP leader, says he intends to call up the civil rights bill Monday.

In the meantime a delegation of southern senators may call on the President to plead against the legislation and perhaps emphasize how the administration's legislative program might be endangered by a filibuster.

Russell said he would welcome an opportunity to talk with Eisenhower.

"This is not a White House bill, and I don't believe the President realized what vicious provisions it carries," Russell said.

The President had remarked at his news conference that he was not a lawyer and he doesn't participate in drawing up the exact language of legislative proposals.

A little later he mentioned that "I was reading part of the bill this morning, and I — there were certain phrases I didn't completely understand." He indicated he would ask the attorney general for clarification.

Robertson said he agreed that the Republicans must accept the responsibility for what happens to the rest of the Eisenhower program at this session of Congress.

"It's the old law of self defense," he declared.

When debate on the bill starts, he added, "everything will grind to a stop — much to our regret. But it's unavoidable. It's forced on us."

Holt Supervisor Pleads Guilty To Embezzlement

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP)—A. M. Battenhorst, long time Holt County supervisor from Stuart, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement and was paroled for two years by District Judge D. R Mounts.

Holt County Attorney William Griffin said the charge involved funds allegedly embezzled from 1949 to 1957. He said Battenhorst made full resitution of $3,157.

Griffin said the money included payments for custom road work with county machinery in Holt County townships.

Battenhorst submitted his resignation to the Holt County board. It was accepted.

BERRA'S BAT BOOMS, YANKEES GAIN GAME

Turley Fans 11 Red Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra drove home eight runs and Bob Turley struck out 11 batters as the league leading New York Yankees thrashed the Boston Red Sox 10-0 Wednesday for their seventh successive triumph.

The squat catcher, back in his old slugging groove, smashed a home run and two singles as the Yankees pounded Tom Brewer and George Susce for eight of their 10 hits in the first three innings to open up a huge 9-0 lead.

Turley, pitching his third straight strong game, permitted the Red Sox only three singles, none after the third inning, as he recorded his fourth victory against two defeats. The strong-armed righthander, still pitching without a windup, issued only three walks and hit a batter as he registered his second shutout before 23,065 cash customers.

Berra's home run, his 12th of the season and 250th of his major league career, came in the second inning with Tony Kubek and Mickey Mantle on base. Mantle had been given an intentional base on balls so that Brewer could pitch to Berra.

In an almost similar situation in the first inning, after Mantle walked to fill the bases, Berra had come through with a single to drive home two runners. In the third, with runners on second and third and one out, Susce walked Mantle, again intentionally, and once more Berra came through with a single to drive in two mates.

Yogi drove in another run in the eighth with an infield out to come within three of the American League record of 11 established by Tony Lazzeri of the Yankees in 1936. Jim Bottomley, with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1924, set the major league record of 12.

Turley fanned at least one batter in every inning except the sixth and eighth. In the fifth he struck out Susce. Jimmy Piersall and Billy Klaus in succession.

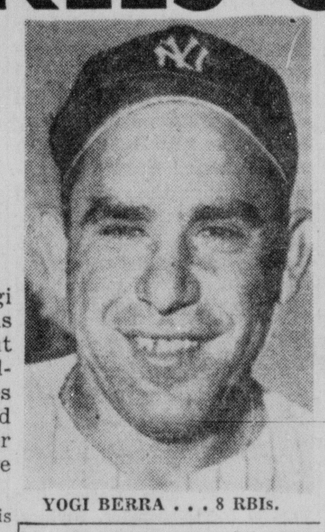

Ted Williams, with a single in the first, Jackie Jensen with another single in the second and Piersall with a safe bunt in the third were the only Red Sox to connect safely off Turley's fast ball and slow curve.

Ennis' Poke Snaps Tie, Beats Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—A two-run single by veteran Del Ennis in the seventh inning Wednesday cracked a tie game and propelled the onrushing St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Cardinals' Larry Jackson, becoming the National League's winningest hurler along with the New York Giants' Ruben Gomez, grabbed his 10th triumph but had to have help from knuckle-baller Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth after the Cubs scored a run on Chuck Tanner's double and Walt Moryn's single.

The Cubs bunched three of their six hits off Jackson in the fourth for three runs and a 3-2 lead. The big blows that aroused the hopes of 8,930 Wrigley Field patrons were Moryn's No. 11 homer and Dale Long's No. 8 homer that scored Ernie Banks, who had walked, ahead of him.

The Cardinals, in gaining second place, wrapped up their fourth straight triumph in the seventh by knocking out Tom Poholsky and handing him his fourth loss against one victory.

Don Blasingame beat out a bunt. Al Dark, who had four hits in five trips, singled him to second. After Poholsky got Stan Musial for the second out, he walked Joe Cunningham to fill the bases. Ennis, 32-year-old outfielder who has boosted his runs batted in total by 10 in the last five games, slapped a sharp single to left to bring home Blasingame and Dark.

Trucks Blanks Chisox

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Chicago White Sox were shut out 5-0 Wednesday by the Kansas City Athletics and fell three games behind the New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase.

Virgil Trucks, ex-White Sox pitcher, got credit for the victory over his former teammates although Tom Morgan came in in the sixth with the bases loaded and one out to preserve the shutout and righthander Trucks his seventh victory against a single loss. Dick Donovan, who started for Chicago, lost his third game in 11 decisions.

Billy Hunter's home run in the second inning was enough to give the A's their second victory in a row. Kansas City had lost 11 straight prior to the two victories.

Donovan left after five innings during which he was tagged for six hits and four runs, three of them earned.

The Sox were hamstrung by the veteran Trucks until the sixth even though his wildness opened the scoring door in the first four innings. He left eight stranded on the bases.

In the sixth, Morgan came in to make pinch hitter Jim Rivera roll into a double play.

In the third, a pop fly double by Hector Lopez and Irv Noren's single made it two. The lead doubled in the fifth on successive singles by Lopez, Joe DeMaestri and Gus Zernial with an outfield error by Larry Doby. In the sixth, Lou Skizas crashed a long home run to add another run.

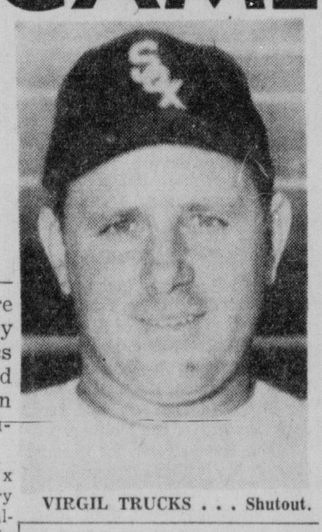

The A's lost the services of Billy Martin in the first inning when he was hit on the left wrist by a pitched ball. He was taken to a hospital for an X-ray. The picture indicated no fracture. Martin is expected to return to the line-up in a few days.

Cincinnati Clobbers Burdette

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs cracked the 2-year-old Lew Burdette jinx Wednesday night as they knocked him out of the box in the sixth inning and went on for a 7-5 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The victory boosted the Reds to a full game lead in the National League and dropped the Braves to third place behind both the Reds and St. Louis.

Going into Wednesday night's game, Burdette had beaten the Reds nine straight times and hadn't lost to them since the 1955 season.

Hal Jeffcoat, who got credit for the Redleg victory, also made a major hitting contribution to Burdette's downfall. He rapped out a two-run triple off the centerfield wall during the four-run Cincinnati uprising in the sixth which sent Burdette to the showers.

George Crowe got a home run for Cincinnati while Hank Aaron, Del Crandall and Wes Covington got homers for the Braves.

Covington's homer knocked Jeffcoat out in the top of the ninth and brought on workhorse Brooks Lawrence to stifle the Braves. It was Lawrence's fourth pitching appearance in the last five Cincinnati games.

He quickly retired Frank Torre, Felix Mantilla and Crandall to preserve the victory for Jeffcoat and the Reds.

The score was tied at 3-3 when the Reds teed off on Burdette in the sixth for their game-winning runs.

Crowe walked to open the frame. Frank Robinson flied out but Ed Bailey singled Crowe to third from where he scored on Roy McMillan's single after Don Hoak had popped out. Jeffcoat then unloaded his triple and Burdette bowed out after he yielded a single to Johnny Temple which scored Jeffcoat.

For the first three innings it looked as if the Burdette mastery over the Reds was going to continue as he allowed only a couple of hits as the Braves jumped into a quick 2-0 lead.

The Lincoln Chiefs return to Sherman Field today for a king-sized Fourth of July celebration against the league-leading Topeka Hawks.

Both clubs just finished a three-game set at Topeka with Lincoln winning the series two games to one. The Chiefs took Wednesday night's game 10-4 after a doubleheader split Tuesday.

Baseball fans in the Capital City will get a pair of chances to see the Chiefs in action today. The first game of the split doubleheader is slated for 2 p.m., while the nightcap will get underway at 8 p.m.

Topeka will throw aces Tom Graham (4-1) and John Stadnicki (12-1) and Lincoln will use Bob Anderton (4-1) and Dewey Williams (3-4).

Adding a holiday air to the night donnybrook will be a gigantic Independence Day fireworks extravaganza following the final out of the second contest.

The Fourth of July spectacular will be the beginning of a 15-day home stand for the Chiefs. After the Hawks, Des Moines, Albuquerque, Colorado Springs and Pueblo visit Sherman Field.

Chiefs 10, Hawks 4

TOPEKA (AP)—The Lincoln Chiefs won the odd game of a three game series here Wednesday night by defeating Topeka, 10-4. All of Topeka's runs came on homers by Preacher Williams and Daryl Robertson.

It was the third straight series loss for the league leaders who now have lost eight of their last ten starts.

Bill Onuska hit a pair of homers for the Chiefs. They came after Lincoln had gained a 5-0 lead.

Topeka's Preacher Williams hit a homer with two aboard in the fifth to cut the deficit to 5-3. The Chiefs belted Jim Stuart for three in the sixth and got to acting manager Jim McDaniel for a pair in the seventh. These came on Onuska's second homer following a walk to Stan Malec.

Bill Bell was the winning pitcher, being pestered mostly by his own wildness. He pitched eighth innings and gave up eight walks but only four hits.

Walks to Bell and Willie Melendez in the third set up the first Chief tally. Sam Miley singled home Bell.

In the fifth Ken Hamlin walked and Bell sacrificed. Haberl threw wildly to first. Hamlin moved to third on the error and Wilson doubled to score him. Melendez then singled.

Ortega Dumped

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Larry Baker, a nobody from Indianapolis, blasted his way to the ring heights Tuesday night by outpointing Gaspar Ortega, the No. 2 welterweight challenger, in a 10-round battle at Miami Beach Auditorium.

The split decision may have cost Ortega, the heavily-favored Mexican, a winter title fight with welterweight champion Carmen Basilio. Ortega, a 3-1 favorite in Tuesday night's battle, was in line for a shot at Basilio this fall until the champ signed to meet middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

With everything to gain and nothing to lose, Baker threw all he had into Tuesday night's battle and he had enough to win a decision that elevated him into boxing's big money ranks after years of fighting for ham and eggs.

Referee Eddie Coachman voted for Baker 97-96 and Judge Gus Jacobson gave it to the underdog 95-94. Judge Fred Aaronson gave Ortega a 97-92 edge.

After the fight, Coachman said he had penalized Ortega two points for low blows, which changed his card to 97-94 in favor of Baker.

"He hit him low in four rounds," Coachman said, "and I had to do something about it."

The 21-year-old Ortega weighed 147¾. Baker, 26, came in at 145.

It was Baker's fourth straight victory. He had stopped Buddy Jackson and Ray Perez in one round and Pat Lowry in eight in his last three battles.

Hank Bauer Files Suit For $150,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Bauer Wednesday sued Edwin Jones for $150,000 for false arrest and malicious prosecution in the famed New York Yankee night club mixup.

The suit was filed in New York Supreme Court, and asked $100,000 damages for false arrest and $50,000 for malicious prosecution.

The Yankee outfielder based his suit on the fact the New York Grand Jury refused to indict him after a civil arrest brought by Jones, a delicatessen owner, June 24.

Bauer and a group of Yankee players were celebrating Billy Martin's birthday at the club May 16, when a disturbance erupted and Jones claimed Bauer hit him.

"After the grand jury threw out the case I waited for a telephone call or a letter of apology from Jones, but I never heard from him," Bauer told newsmen after the suit was filed.

Lexington Nips Hastings By 7-6

Creed homered in the fifth with one on and got four hits in the game, giving him 12 in his last four games.

RADIO-TV OUTFIT ENDS STALL, NAMES STARTERS

After several days of prodding, the Radio-TV team has finally arrived at a starting lineup for the third-annual battle with the Press at Sherman Field Friday night.

Game time will be 7 p.m., with the Chiefs and the Topeka Hawks slated to play the nightcap part of the twin-bill.

As expected, the local chapter of the Actor's Guild has dipped into the part-time bag in an effort to bolster its anemic ranks.

Heading the list is Tom (Trainwreck) Novak, the star of last year's game, who will be at third base. Tom works for a local trucking concern when he isn't exchanging patter with Radio-TV Skipper Bill King during football season.

Bristling with indignation over published remarks about the delay in naming a lineup, King barked Wednesday:

"We are cognizant of the disparaging remarks being tossed about by the Press team, but it is more difficult for us to arrive at a lineup than it is for them.

"Unlike the Press, radio and TV men are busy with their work and don't have so much leisure time."

King, who plans to catch again this year, hurled another jab at the Press club, when he said:

We are not worried one tiny bit. It is obvious there is dissension on the Press team. Anytime you fire a manager, you get rid of a manger to kick him out altogether. You don't move him to shortstop."

(It was the opinion in most quarters familiar with baseball that King, shaken by the fact that the Press team had acquired a new manager and a sensational rookie pitcher, was making a feeble attempt at bravado in an effort to bolster the morale of his inferior force.)

Phil Samp, who specializes in a knuckleball tossed with all four fingers, will be the starting pitcher for the Radio-TV club.

"And if Samp has trouble — which he can't possibly have — we can bring in Bob Taylor from centerfield," King said. "And he's left-handed knuckleballer."

The Radio-TV manager also revealed that he was "refound his batting stance and will be hitting out of a crouch."

It was also learned that King, in a last-minute desperation move, has been taking batting practice at the local batting-machine concession.

Batting order for the Radio-TV team:

Bob Taylor	centerfield
Bill King	catcher
Wes Maser	first base
Tom Novak	third base
Bernie Sasek	left field
John Churchill	shortstop
Orv Wissink	rightfield
Rollie Barron	second base
Phil Samp	pitcher

Utility players are: Joe Cooper and Paul Jensen, outfielders; Bob Furman and Whitey Reed, infielders.

Middlecoff Charged With Slow Play In British Open

Post Left Off Roster Of NL All-Star Club

CINCINNATI (INS) — Six Milwaukee Braves and six Cincinnati Redlegs will be on the National League's 25-man squad that faces the American League in the annual All-Star game at St. Louis on July 9.

Left at the post when Manager Walter Alston of Brooklyn named the full squad Wednesday was Cincinnati right fielder Wally Post, who was "subbed off" the team last week by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Alston's team did not include Post, who led the fans' vote for the starting right field berth. Frick vetoed Post's selection because of the unbalanced flood of votes from Cincinnati.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron was designated by Frick as the starting right fielder and Alston added five more Braves to the team. They include second baseman Red Schoendienst, shortstop Johnny Logan, third baseman Eddie Mathews and pitchers Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette.

Alston's seven-man pitching staff includes lefthanders Spahn, Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants and Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies, and righthanders Burdette, Larry Jackson of the St. Louis Cardinals, Clem Labine of the Brooklyn Dodgers and rookie Jack Sanford of the Phillies.

Spahn was selected for the ninth time in his brilliant career but the "dean" of all the all-stars is St. Louis first baseman Stan Musial who will be making a record 14th appearance.

The fan vote, "amended" by the commissioner, placed five Redlegs on the first team, including second baseman Johnny Temple, shortstop Roy McMillan, third baseman Don Hoak and catcher Ed Bailey.

Alston added Gus Bell, the fan vote winner for center field, to the squad along with Gino Cimoli of the Dodgers and Wally Moon of the Cardinals.

Willie Mays of the Giants is the starting center fielder.

Rounding out a total of nine infielders will be shortstop Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs and first baseman Gil Hodges of the Dodgers.

Backing up catcher Ed Bailey will be Hank Foiles of the Pirates and Hal Smith of the Cardinals.

Eight of the players on the team will be making their All-Star debut. Missing from the All-Star lineup this year will be such former standbys as Robin Roberts, Roy Campanella and Ted Kluszewski.

The team includes six players from Milwaukee, six from Cincinnati, four from the Cardinals, three from the Dodgers, two each from the Giants and Phillies and one each from the Cubs and Pirates.

Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan and Chicago Manager Bob Scheffing were named as coaches.

Herm Wehmeier of the Cardinals and Dick Littlefield of the Cubs will pitch batting practice and Hobie Landrith of the Cardinals will catch batting practice.

Mossi Pitches First Shutout

CLEVELAND (INS) — Don Mossi hurled his sixth victory Wednesday as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers, 6-0, before 6,262 fans at the Municipal Stadium.

It was the first major league shutout for the lefthander.

Mossi, selected for the American League All-Star team, gave up only six hits. Two of them were singles by Harvey Kuenn, shifted to third base from shortstop.

Chico Carrasquel's sixth home run of the season opened the Cleveland scoring in the second, with Vic Wertz, Gene Woodling and Chico pacing the attack, the Indians scored single runs in the third and fifth added three more in the seventh.

Robinson-Basilio Fight Date Set

NEW YORK (INS) The International Boxing Club announced Wednesday that the Sugar Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio middleweight title fight will be held Sept. 23 at Yankee Stadium.

IBC president James D. Norris said the bout will be held the following night in case of rain. The Yankees' baseball game with Baltimore, originally scheduled for the afternoon of the 24th, has been made part of a doubleheader the next day.

No prices have been set as yet for the bout, but the ringside price is expected to be $30 or $40. Norris expects the bout to be one of the most lucrative ever promoted by the IBC.

It could prove that organization's last major promotion as well. The IBC has been ordered to dissolve by Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan, but the IBC Monday obtained a stay until Nov. 1 in order to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court.

Hoad's Wimbleton Title Defense Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tennis slugger Lew Hoad defeated Sweden's gallant Sven Davidson, and Ashley Cooper outlasted Neale Fraser Wednesday setting up an all-Australian men's singles final at Wimbledon for the second straight year.

Defending champion Hoad—"little stone face" of the lawn tennis world — served, volleyed and drove Davidson to defeat in one semifinal, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5.

Cooper—tall, dark and handsome heart throb of the schoolgirl spectators—knocked off fellow Aussie Fraser, 1-6, 14-12, 6-3, 8-6, in a match that seemed as long as a day in the dentist's chair.

Hoad and Cooper will meet Friday on the pressure cooking center court for the title that blond 23-year-old Hoad now holds—the crown generally recognized as tops in the amateur tennis world.

America's Don Budge was the last player to put Wimbledon Men's titles back-to-back. He did it in 1937-38.

While Uncle Sam's deflated nephews were sitting out a Wimbledon semifinal for the first time in 30 years, his nieces were preparing for an almost all-American show in the women's singles Thursday. Three of the four women's semifinalists are Yanks.

Top-seeded Althea Gibson of New York plays the six-foot, 16-year-old British amazon, Christine Truman, sensation of the tournament so far, while Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode of Forest Hills, N.Y., seeded fourth, meets Darlene Hard, the Montebello, Calif. waitress, seeded fifth.

The day's biggest upset occurred in the mixed doubles where the top-seeded team of Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., was knocked out by the pick up team of Luis Ayala of Chile and Thelma Long of Australia, 9-7, 1-6, 6-3.

The top-seeded women's doubles team of Misses Gibson and Hard easily smashed into the semifinals by trouncing Angela Mortimer and Pat Hird of Britain's Wightman Cup team, 6-3, 6-0.

UNTERSEHER WINS, LOSES IN MIDWEST TOURNAMENT

OMAHA (AP) — Cliff Bucholz of St. Louis won the boys singles division of the Midwest Open Tennis Tournament Tuesday, beating Billy Higgins, Oklahoma City, 6-2, 6-3.

Bucholz then teamed with Claude Bakewell, St. Louis, to win the boys doubles. They beat David Moss, Granite City, Ill., and Ron Johnson, Kirkwood, Mo., 6-1, 6-4.

The junior boys singles title went to Ron Anglemyer, Winfield, Kan., who beat Higgins, 6-1, 6-2, and then won the finals from Neil Unterseher, Lincoln, Neb., 3-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Gay Miller, La Grange, Ill., was the champion in the girls singles, defeating Mary Clendenin, St. Louis, 6-0, 6-1. Champion in the junior girls singles was Lenora Prosser, Kansas City, 1-6, 6-2, 6-1 over Jean Gelner, St. Louis.

Sherrill Geistlinger—Janice Carlson, Lincoln, took the girls' doubles title on a 7-5, 6-3 win over Doni Lambertsen-Carolyn Grothe, Omaha. The Omaha team of Helen Ackerman-Barb Patton won the junior girls title, beating Gelner-Clendenin, 6-3, 6-4.

Pete Woodward, Topeka, and Anglemyer beat Bucholz-Bakewell in the junior doubles finals, 8-6, 6-0, and Kathy Oldham-Tuck Vosburg, Omaha, won the junior mixed doubles finals from Lambertsen-Jim Bemis, Omaha, 6-3, 6-2.

Moving to the finals of the mens singles were Unterseher and Don Walraven, Oklahoma City. Unterseher beat Don Middlebrook, Des Moines, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1, and Walraven beat Bill Berg, Omaha, 7-5, 6-2.

Charles Hanner and Brian Meharg, Lincoln, won 6-2, 6-2 from Bob Radinlecky Young, Omaha, in a men's doubles semi.

Orioles Trip Washington

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles clipped rookie Jim Heise for five runs in the second inning and coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Washington Senators Tuesday night in a loosely-played game.

The victory, coupled with Detroit's 6-0 loss to Cleveland, moved the Orioles to within a half game of the fifth-place Tigers.

The game was marked by nine errors, six by the floundering Senators who lost their 52nd game in 77 starts. Heise lost his second game since being called up from the Class B Midland, Texas club.

Three of the Washington errors were made by first baseman Jim Lemon, and two by him on the same play in the second inning were especially costly. Lemon missed a bases-loaded grounder and then threw wild as three runs scored.

Amarillo Outlasts Albuquerque, 7-6

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Amarillo vaulted to a 7-0 lead then outlasted Albuquerque to win a 7-6 Western League baseball game Wednesday night before 1,109 sweltering fans.

Chuck Coles powered a pair of homers to pace the belated Dukes' attack, but Hugh Blanton staggered through and collected his ninth victory of the season against two setbacks.

Scots Share Lead After First Round

By STERLING SLAPPEY

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Eric Brown, one-time Scottish railway fireman who called St. Andrews hallowed Old Course, a "dirt-track," scored 10 threes in a brilliant 67 Wednesday to tie countryman Laurie Ayton for the lead in the British Open Golf championship.

Ayton and Brown finished the opening round in the rain shortly after Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., came home in a gusty wind with a par 72 which left him in a strong challenging position.

Middlecoff's round, completed in three hours 18 minutes, blew up a controversy with four players who were behind him.

They shouted at the 1949 and 1956 U. S. Open champion, waved their clubs at him and trooped into the Royal and Ancient Clubhouse to officially protest at the "slow play."

The R. and A. sided with Middlecoff and announced the American played in "reasonable time and no action was called for."

It was learned that the R. and A. unofficially suggested that Middlecoff please speed it up a bit. Several R. and A. championship committeemen later passed the word around that at least 14 other players in the 96-man field took more than three hours and 20 minutes for their golf.

Frank Stranahan was second lowest among four Americans who qualified. The Toledo millionaire's son had a 74, Gene Andrews, Pacific Palisades, Calif., amateur, a 78, and Frank Keck of Champaign, Ill., an Air Force lieutenant stationed in Germany, had an 83.

Keck, in a backhanded sort of way, made himself one of the most famous men on St. Andrews.

He took a 10 on the 14th hole when he drove into a vicious network of bunkers called "The Heardies." He excavated four times with a wedge before getting out.

The same hole cost four golfers 35 strokes. Andrews used up 8 there; England's Bernard Hunt also took an 8 and Ireland's Walker Cup player, Joe Carr had a 9.

Middlecoff got most of the bad golf out of his system in another huge bunker on the 13th hole. He hacked away twice before getting out and taking a six. He said he learned a lot about St. Andrews golf in that bunker.

Carr, ordinarly a superlative player, agonized through a 78 Tuesday while another Walker Cup player, England's Alex Shepperson, was getting a 76.

Both men will go to Minneapolis for matches with the American team next month, leaving Robin Galloway, still another Scot, at home.

Galloway Tuesday shot a 70—the finest round of amateur golf old St. Andrews has seen since Bobby Jones had a 68 over the Old Course in winning the 1927 British Open title. Galloway is not expected to win this year—not even by his fellow Scots.

DODGE TRUCKS most powerful of low-priced 3

Dodge matches reserve power against truck "C" and truck "F" in this test for safer passing ability. All three are comparably equipped and loaded with 1000 lbs. A skilled test driver is behind each wheel. Here's the flag, they're off!

Dodge takes an early lead and at 30 m.p.h. is widening the gap. Truck "C" and truck "F" are straining to deliver their peak performance. But that Dodge 204-hp. V-8 keeps gaining easily. Its added power means less wear, fewer repairs, too.

In just one quarter mile Dodge is five lengths ahead of truck "C", seven lengths out front of truck "F". And this is but one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding value of the low-priced three.

Army Snubs Report On AF Missile

Claim Jupiter Bettered X17

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said Wednesday night the Lockheed X17, an Air Force research rocket, has "reached the highest speed ever achieved by any instrumented missile."

Sources close to the Army retorted that the Defense Department announcement was in error and that an Army test missile, the Jupiter-C, has flown much faster than the X17.

Since the X17's speed was not announced and that of the Jupiter-C has never been officially released — both are military secrets — it was a bit hard to determine who was right and who was wrong.

Informed sources said the Jupiter-C, like the X17, carried instruments to relay information back to earth, and thus qualified as much as did the X17 as an "instrumental missile."

Cleared

A Pentagon spokesman said the Lockheed flight reports was cleared with the Defense Department and could be presumed to be correct.

A three-stage version of the X17 was reported in April to have attained a speed of about 9,240 miles an hour, or 14 times the speed of sound, in a test firing at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.

However, the Jupiter-C is said to have attained almost 15,000 miles an hour — 19 times the speed of sound — in a firing from the same base last September. The missile was reported unofficially to have attained an altitude of 680 miles and to have traveled 3,300 miles, landing in the south Atlantic 1,400 miles west of Ascension Island.

Although the Defense Department announcement, if correct, thus would indicate that the X17 had exceeded 15,000 miles an hour, there was skepticism on this point among missile experts.

The fastest officially announced speed attained by a missile is 6,864 miles an hour — 10.4 times the speed of sound — registered by a test missile of the National Advisory Committee for aeronautics fired from Wallops Island, Va.

'Biggest'

A later missile fired from Wallops attained 8,000 miles an hour, according to unofficial reports.

The Pentagon - approved announcement on the three-stage X17 said the 40-foot missile was "the biggest and most powerful U.S. missile in existence using all solid propellants."

"It has on a number of flights hit the record speed as it blasted high into the ionosphere," the announcement said.

The X17 was designed to aid in overcoming one of the most baffling obstacles in the Air Force missile development program — that of preventing long range missiles, arching high out of the earth's atmosphere, from burning up like meteors when they plunge back into the heavy air close to earth.

The X17, built at Lockheed's Van Nuys, Calif., plant, weighs less than six tons and carries a 75-pound "payload" of instruments and radio equipment.

Firemen Fought A Losing Battle

Flames of unkown origin leveled the Harold Edgar Plumbing Shop and his home at Barneston, Neb., Wednesday. Volunteer firemen from Wymore, Liberty and Blue Springs fought the blaze. The fire was well under way when discovered. (Star Staff Photo)

Plumbing Shop, House Destroyed By Blaze

By BILL HINEL
Beatrice Bureau

BARNESTON, Neb. — Firemen from Liberty, Wymore and Blue Springs Wednesday fought a losing battle with flames which broke out in the Harold Edgar Plumbing Shop and home at Barneston.

The fire was well underway when the firemen arrived and all they could do was prevent it from spreading to a lumber yard across the street and to another house. The shop and residence and most of the fixtures, appliances and furniture were destroyed.

Edgar estimated the damage at more than $10,000 and said about $4,000 of the loss was covered by insurance. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Barneston has no fire department and the volunteers from surrounding towns were handicapped by lack of water. The water had to be hauled from farms one and one-half miles south of town.

The fire was discovered by Don Niemeyer of Wymore, a produce truck driver, who called it to the attention of Dale York, who in turn called firemen.

Two Blue Springs firemen, Eugene Swanson and Frank Gullison, were overcome by smoke and heat. They were taken to Beatrice hospital after regaining consciousness, and late Wednesday were reported improving.

During the height of the fire, smoke could be observed billowing upward from as far away as Beatrice, 20 miles to the north. Little wind to fan or scatter the blaze was credited with helping to prevent spreading of the flames.

July 4 Means Extra Work ... For Patrolmen

Members of the Nebraska Safety Patrol will take up their usual holiday schedule of longer hours this Fourth of July week end in an effort to hold down the number of traffic accidents.

Capt. Dan Casey said all available men will be used in the traffic division and all 162 uniformed officers in the Lincoln area will be aided by administrative officers and office personnel including Col. C. J. Sanders, chief of the Nebraska Patrol.

Man Who Raped, Robbed Lincolnite Still Being Sought

The search continued Wednesday for the unknown man who raped and robbed a 59-year-old Lincoln woman in her apartment bedroom early Sunday morning.

No one has been arrested in connection with the incident, police said. The woman also reported that her diamond ring valued at $1,500 was stolen by the intruder, who she could not identify.

It is highly unusual for an embassy to take the initiative in such a case.

Informal OK Given For New Park To Replace Piedmont

Informal approval has been given by the park and recreation board for disposition of Piedmont Park at 50th and C and acquisition of a new and larger park site.

The Piedmont area, C to Valley Road from 50th to 52nd, is an eight acre tract. The board is attempting to work out arrangements for a 40-acre tract more strategically located.

The Piedmont Park came to the city as a gift from the late Charles Stuart Sr. The site contains a deed restriction calling for the land to revert to the Stuart interest if not used for park purposes.

Arrangements must be made to dispose of the land and acquire other property to the satisfaction of the Stuarts. The board intends to obtain $40,000 for the Piedmont tract and spend that same amount on another tract.

Final action by the board will be taken when contract documents have been drawn up for diposal of the Piedmont tract. The new park land will be known as Stuart Memorial Park.

Finney Bldg. Deed Given Sahara Coal

The C. C. Kimball Company as trustees has conveyed the Finney Building at 1331 N to the Sahara Coal Company, according to a deed filed with the Register of Deeds' office.

The trustee's deed states no revenue stamps are required as the Kimball company purchased the building for and with funds of the Sahara Coal Co.

The trustee company purchased the 4-story building in June, 1956, from Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Finney and Mr. and Mrs John N. Slattery for $200,000 according to revenue stamps on that deed previously filed.

Sahara Coal Company recently acquired the Bankers Life Insurance Company of Nebraska Building at 14th and N, east of the Finney Building, for $438,000.

General Office Use

Both buildings will continue to be operated as general office buildings and were purchased for investment purposes, according to a Sahara spokesman. Bankers Life will occupy the downtown location until its new building at Cotner and O is completed.

Both buildings will be managed by the Kimball Co. after the Bankers Life offices are moved.

The Sahara Co., a Delaware corporation, has qualified to transact business in Nebraska in connection with its Lincoln property asquisition. The company will continue to maintain its general executive offices in Chicago and Harrisburg, Ill. and will not establish offices here.

SERVICE TO GET STATE DEPT. POST, BACK PAY

WASHINGTON (INS) — A federal jusge Wednesday ordered diplomat John Stewart Service restored to State Department duty with back pay.

Officials said he will be given a non-sensitive position.

The order by Judge James W. Morris, implementing a Supreme Court decision, makes Service's restoration to duty effective Dec. 14, 1951, the date he was dismissed on security charges.

This means that Service, who was drawing $11,250 a year when he was fired, can collect back pay less whatever he has earned in private employment. His attorney estimated he may get about $18,000.

Plans To Return

Government officials said they understood that Service plans to return to the department rather than merely collect the back pay and then resign. He has been in the export business in New York.

These sources said he will be offered a non-sensitive job in the administratinn branch. This would be similar to the post he held when he was dismissed.

The Supreme Court ruled on June 17 that former Secretary of State Dean Acheson had no legal authority to fire Service, a veteran Far Eastern expert.

No Authority

Acheson fired him on the basis of a loyalty review board finding that he was a possible security risk. Subsequently, the federal courts ruled that the loyalty board lacked such authority.

Service was serving in China during World War II when classified documents fell into the hands of the magazine "Amerasia." He admitted delivering the papers but claimed that they did no harm to the U.S.

On several occasions, review boards during the Truman administration found him guilty of "indiscretions" but denied that he was a loyalty or a security risk.

Lockwood: 2 Months Gas Tax Total To Be $8,700,000

C. Russell Lockwood, executive secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Industries Committee, estimated that Nebraska automobile owners in the next two months will drive some 1,200,000,000 vehicle miles, use up about 97 million gallons of motor fuel and pa about $8,700,000 in taxes on gasoline.

July regularly is the peak month for highway fuel consumption in Nebraska, he noted. Gallonage figures for July and August generally run about 20 per cent higher than the monthly average for the other 10 months of the year.

The tax payment figure is based on a nine-cents-per-gallon tax on gasoline, including six cents of state tax and three cents of federal tax.

On Sept. 20, under a bill passed by the 1957 Legislature, the state gas tax is scheduled to climb to seven cents a gallon.

Request To Hike Blair Area Phone Rates Continued

A hearing on an application by the Citizens Telephone Corp., Blair, for authority to increase telephone rates at the company's Malmo, Morse Bluff, Prague and Weston exchanges was continued Wednesday until next Jan. 2 by the State Railway Commission.

The commission also granted authority to the Omaha Public Power District to construct, operate and maintain two electric transmission lines in Douglas County, and one each in Washington and Colfax Counties.

2 RABIES CASES REPORTED LAST WEEK IN STATE

The State Health Department said that two more cases of rabies in animals were reported in Nebraska last week, raising the year's total to 21.

Latest reports involved a skunk in Scotts Bluff County and a squirrel in Lancaster County.

The health department also reported two cases of influenza last week but said they were the "old fashioned" kind and not the so-called Oriental type which has developed in scattered areas of the world.

Other disease cases last week included two of chicken pox, 10 of measles and 25 of whooping cough.

Scientists Report New 'Three-Plus' Explosion On Sun

WASHINGTON (INS) — Scientists Wednesday reported a new, near-record explosion on the surface of the sun which triggered off a radioactive shower of atomic particles expected to hit the earth's atmosphere on the Fourth of July.

The latest solar fireworks, in the form of a giant upsurging flaming arm of hot gases many times larger than the planet earth, was detected by a Swedish observatory on the Isle of Capri.

The sun blast was tentatively classed by International Geophysical Year scientists as a "three-plus" — highest category used. This would make the explosion larger than the class three blast that erupted Friday.

Alongside Wednesday's solar explosion, the largest conceivable superhydrogen bomb that man could detonate would be a pip-squeak Fourth of July firecracker.

Such solar storms liberate bursts of radioactive cosmic rays, ultra violet rays and stripped-down atomic bullets (electrons and protons).

Man himself is protected from this radioactive solar fallout by the shield of air that surrounds earth.

Reds Put On Pressure

CANBERRA (AP) — Australia's Immigration Minister Athol Townley reports Russia and satellites are waging a mail campaign to undermine the morale of their former nationals who have come to the free world. The idea, he says, is to get them to go home. He urges immigrants to report to the Australian government any efforts to intimidate them.

NWU Professor To Attend Hebrew Culture Workshop

A Nebraska Wesleyan University professor, Dr. John Rosentrater, will participate in a graduate workshop on Hebrew culture July 9 through August 26 in Palestine.

The workshop is sponsored by the Department of Hebrew Culture of New York University and the National Association of Professors of Hebrew.

Dr. Rosentrater said the principal study will center on Hebrew culture as found in the Old Testament and in the modern day, using recent archeological findings as a basis for the study.

Dr. Rosentrater's summer school classes at Nebraska Wesleyan will be taken over by the Rev. Robert Davis, director of Christian and Baptist Religious Life at the University of Nebraska.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska: Temperatures will average near normal over the east, and 3 to 6 degrees above normal in the west with only minor day to day changes. Normal highs are near 90 and normal lows range from upper 50s in the Panhandle to middle to upper 60s in the southeast. Rainfall is expected to average .20 to .50 of an inch, occurring as scattered showers or thunderstorms throughout the period.

Todd-Liz Break-Up Is Denied

LONDON (INS) — Whispers that his marriage with Elizabeth Taylor was in danger of breaking up brought an angry blast Wednesday night from Mike Todd.

"Do we scrap?" he exploded. "Of course we scrap. We scrapped last night, we scrap every night—and we're going to keep on scrapping till the day we die!"

The rumors of trouble in the Todd menage burgeoned following two

Miss Taylor Todd

public quarrels they had at Mike's fabulous party for 1,700 blue-blooded and normal-blooded guests.

But Todd dived right into the middle of the gossip Wednesday in typically blunt manner.

He said his edginess toward the beautiful Liz was strictly because of her condition. She expects a child in October.

Replying to reports he "ordered her around" and otherwise "bossed" his wife, to the extent of forbidding her to present herself to the Duchess of Kent, Todd said:

"Her back is not in good shape. I didn't want her to climb the stairs, as she would have had to do to greet the Duchess. Any husband would understand how I feel."

Dismissing the rumors with an annoyed grunt, Todd snapped:

"They didn't give us three months when we were married. Well, this marriage is going to last!"

At one point during Tuesday's party, Todd observed Liz tete-a-tete with her former husband, actor Michael Wilding. He strode up to them and snapped:

"Break it up!"

Liz did not seem pleased. During the evening she told one reporter she hoped her baby would be a girl because "if it's a boy he's got to be just like Mike and I don't think the world is ready for another Mike."

Delinquents Not Caused By Home ...NEA Is Told

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A noted woman anthropologist said Wednesday that broken homes are no more likely to produce juvenile delinquents than happy ones.

Margaret Mead of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, told the National Education Assn. convention in a prepared speech "the root of the trouble lies not in the family but in our present narrow and self-centered definition of 'the community.'"

"Our courts are filled," Miss Mead said, "with children from wartime conditions, from broken homes and depression conditions, children who come from depressed rural conditions into the cities, or from the slums.

"If we investigate the life histories of these children — whom we call 'delinquent,' children whom society has failed — in many cases there will be found a history of bad home conditions.

"But if one takes in a large sample of broken homes, one will not find more delinquent children among them than among a comparable sample of unbroken homes."

Miss Mead said, "It is not the homes that produce the delinquents."

Poor homes, she acknowledged, do "make children vulnerable, liable to . . . influence of bad companies" and in bad neighborhoods "the most vulnerable children will be most influenced."

The plight of these children, she said, is heightened because of "the present tendency of a great proportion of our responsible men and women to move . . . into little protected islands where they can do good on a small scale."

Naval Depot Personnel Again Ordered Slashed

. . . 'Partial Maintenance Status' Called For

HASTINGS (AP) —The Bureau of Ordnance of the Department of Navy announced Wednesday that the Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot will be placed on a "partial maintenance status" by June 30, 1958.

Capt. Robert Thatcher, commanding officer of the NAD, said he received this information from Washington shortly after Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said in a Senate speech that Hastings was among military installations scheduled for a cutback by the end of the year.

Capt. Thatcher said "partial maintenance status" is approximately halfway between the present maintenance status and an inactive status."

He said this will provide for a civil service personnel limit of between 300 and 400 workers. "The details of this reduction will be announced as soon as plans have been made to make this reduction in an efficient and orderly manner," he added.

Last month the NAD was instructed to bring its civilian work personnel down to a ceiling of 800 by the end of July this year.

This status does not include any production of armaments.

Republicans Seek Burial Of Dam Bill

. . . Vote Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican members of the House Interior Committee served notice Wednesday they will try for formal burial of the Hells Canyon Dam bill next Wednesday.

The Reclamation Subcommittee voted 15-12 to kill a bill by Rep. Pfost (D-Idaho) to authorize construction by the federal government of a dam in the Hells Canyon area of the Snake River bordering Idaho and Oregon where Idaho Power Co. plans to build three smaller dams.

Two other Hells Canyon bills—one passed by the Senate and the other introduced by Rep. Ullman (D-Ore) — are still before the subcommittee.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb), ranking GOP member of the Interior Committee, announced at a committee meeting Wednesday he intends to make motions for consideration of all three bills at next week's regular committee meeting.

Miller did not say so, but there was no doubt that the motions for consideration, if successful, would be followed by motions to table and thus kill the three bills.

Chairman Engle (D-Calif) told newsmen he considers the Pfost bill as dead and will not automatically schedule it for full committee action.

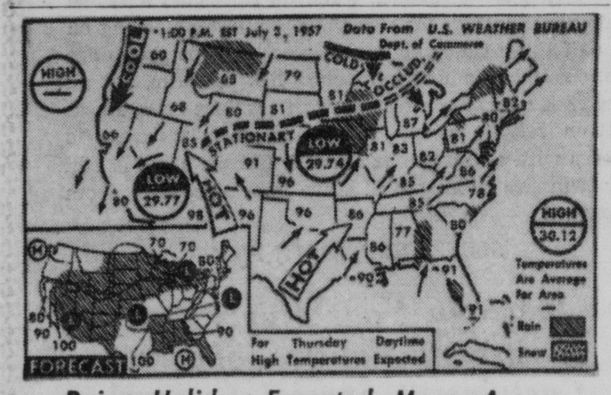

Police 'Bookies' Jolt To Callers

OMAHA (AP) — Hundreds of Nebraskans were jolted Wednesday when telephoning their horse bets to a so-called bookie "lay-off" center here.

Sgt. Eugene Mahoney of the police vice detail said his men, who raided the establishment, fielded "about $2,400 in bets" by answering two constantly ringing telephones.

Two New Falls City Schools Ready By Fall

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP) — General Contractor P. M. Anderson of Tecumseh told the board of education that the two elementray school buildings now under construction will be ready for occupancy by fall.

Rainy Holiday Expected Many Areas

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are forecast for Thursday over the north and central Appalachians, across the Lakes region to the north and central Plains. Isolated thunderstorms are expected in the Gulf states and Florida and also in prospect for the Rockies, Great Basin and Sierra ranges. A southerly low of moist air will bring warmer and more humid weather to the northeast and Ohio Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

McConaughy Reservoir Marks Own Independence

Peak Storage Three Months Later Than '56

HASTINGS, Neb. — Lake McConaughy celebrated the 4th of July by declaring its independence of the drought conditions of the past four years. As evidence of its declaration, the huge reservoir matched its last year's peak storage of 931,600 acre feet, a figure which looked impossible three months ago.

The significance of reaching last year's peak lies in the fact that last year's high was reached on April 10, while this year it occurred on July 4, almost three months later. Peak storage comes at a time when half of the irrigation season is past and soil moisture conditions are excellent.

Lower Discharge

Officials of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District said that a week ago the first water to pass through the Kingsley Dam outlet since April 8 was released as on-river irrigators between Keystone and North Platte began calling for water. Tuesday, water was being turned back to the river at the Jeffrey return channel for on-river canals in Dawson County.

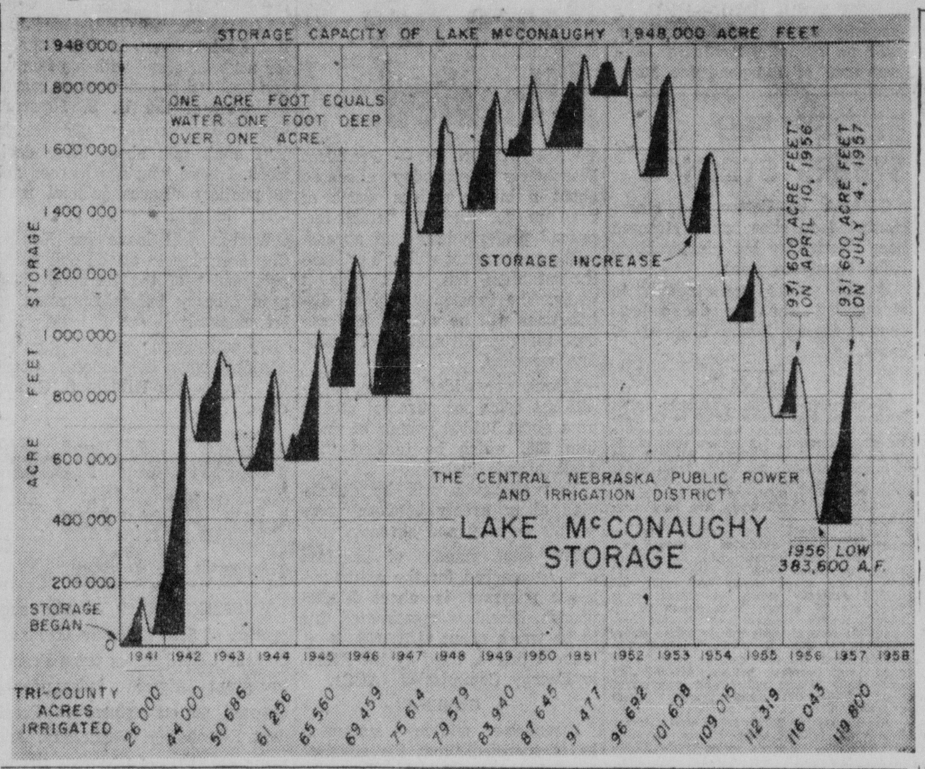

The Lake McConaughy discharge is now approximately 200 cubic feet per second. Last year the discharge ran from 800 to 1,000 cubic feet per second from April 10 to May 1; from 1,000 to 2,000 all during May, and from 3,000 to 4,000 throughout July.

The inflow to Lake McConaughy at Lewellen has been dropping off recently but there is still considerable water coming down the South Platte which should continue as warm weather melts the snow in its upper watershed. This South Platte River water, although it does not flow into Lake McConaughy, can be used in place of storage water for both hydro electric and irrigation purposes.

Expect Demands To Rise

District officials expect peak irrigation demands to come during the last two weeks of July unless rains again postpone the necessity for using ditch water. With soil moisture in excellent condition and predictions for abnormal precipitation during July, some observers predict that the end of the irrigation season will see Lake McConaughy with double the storage water it hel' at the end of the season in October of 1956. That would be 767,200 acre feet.

The Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District furnishes full irrigation for 120,000 acres of land in Gosper, Phelps and Kearney Counties and also supplemental water for some 130,000 acres of land in Lincoln, Dawson and Buffalo Counties.

George Jones Chief Suspect Nevins Death

OMAHA (AP)—Police "have every reason to believe" that George Daniel Jones Jr. was responsible for the slaying of Carolyn Nevins in December, 1955, acting Chief of Police C. Harold Ostler has declared.

Jones currently is sought on a warrant charging him with murder in the slaying of Mrs. Rita Kappenmen, 21-year-old expectant mother, May 29.

"We have evidence to know he did the Kappenman murder," Ostler told the North Omaha Kiwanis Club.

Ostler's comment on the Nevins case was the strongest official statement yet made tying Jones to that case.

Ostler said he also has ordered Detective Inspector Ernest Brown to reopen the investigations of two robbery-murders on the near North Side last year. Operators of small stores were beaten to death.

$25,000 Sought For College From York Residents

YORK, Neb. (AP)—York College needs about $25,000 from citizens of York to help with the physical needs of the school, President Gene Hancock of the college told a representative group of York people.

He said the money would be used to improve the present boys' dormitory facilities, purchase new science equipment, remodel the present library and add to the contents of the library.

Hancock said the need for these improvements arose after the administration was informed of state requirements in connection with approval of the college for teacher education.

"The rather strict requirements came as somewhat of a surprise to the administration of York College," Hancock said. He added that the actual needs are for $35,000 but $10,000 will be sought outside York.

The college expects an enrollment of between 150 and 200 students during the coming year.

Fillmore Harvest Operations Expected To Start This Week

GENEVA, Neb.—With continued good weather, wheat harvesting is expected to start in Fillmore County by July 5 or 6 on the early varieties, according to County Agent Ivar Lindstrom.

He said about half the wheat acreage in the county is planted to the early varieties.

Lindstrom predicts a 25-bushel per acre average, with some yields hitting 50 bushels. He said about one-fifth of the wheat is down.

In nearby Adams County, harvest operations are expected to start July 12 or 13 with the possibility of some early wheat being cut prior to that.

Cutting may start in Webster County by July 8, according to Walter Schmidt, assistant county agent at Red Cloud. He predicts a county average of 30 bushels on upland wheat.

In Kearney County farmers hope to finish cultivating corn and haying before the harvest starts by July 10 or 11, reports Lester Burnham, Kearney County agent.

Harvesting is expected to start by July 13 in Franklin County with some early wheat being cut by July 8.

Furnas County Agent Ralph Fisher said harvesting will get under way by July 10 if the favorable weather continues. Yields are expected to range from 25 to 45 bushels per acre, with approximately 10 per cent of the wheat in the county destroyed by flooding.

Stocks Make Best Climb Since June 11

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market had its own pre-Fourth of July celebration Wednesday, making the most vigorous rise since June 11.

That was the day after President Eisenhower's "upset stomach," and the market advanced on good news about the President's recovery.

Wednesday there was quite an assortment of bullish news items to bolster confidence. The result was that pivotal issues advanced from fractions to $3 or so.

Based on the rise in the average the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange rose an estimated $1,660,000,000.

Wall Street observers said that a new test of the previous 1957 high may be in the making. Some popular market yardsticks, in fact penetrated the high.

Still a bit below the previous high, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose $1.50 to $185.30 with the industrials up $3.50, the rails up 20 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Volume of 2,720,000 shares compared with 2,450,000 shares Tuesday and was the highest since June 11. The gain in the AP 60-stock average also was the greatest since June 11.

Aircrafts were boosted by Senate passage of the defense spending bill which restored most of the funds cut by the House.

The recovery of corporate bonds whose previous decline has weakened investment-type stocks, brought added strength to equities.

The trend was generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 840,000 shares, compared with 740,000 Tuesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — The corporate bond market closed higher on average Wednesday, despite an easing from the best gains of the day. Trading slackened near the close as a pre-holiday lethargy set in.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower in light transactions over-the-counter. Losses ranged out to ¼ of a point but the market was very thin and dealers said few bonds changed hands.

In the corporate list, rails and utilities advanced while industrials and investment quality issues eased. Convertibles were mostly higher with some gains out to $8 and more.

Trading volume was $4,920,000 par value on the Big Board, down slightly from $5,280,000 Tuesday.

-Hoffa Trial-

His Motive Was 'Duty' -Cheasty

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Cye Cheasty swore Wednesday his only motive in turning in James R. Hoffa and Hyman I. Fischbach was his "duty as a citizen."

Cheasty is the government's key witness in the bribery-conspiracy trial of Hoffa, midwest leader of the Teamsters Union, and Fischbach, Miami attorney, both charged with bribing Cheasty to get a job with the Senate Rackets Committee and feed them its secrets.

Hoffa's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, had asked Cheasty about his motive in reporting the alleged plot to the Senate committee.

Racial Issue

Cross-examination of Cheasty resumed after Judge Burnita S. Matthews rejected defense motions for a mistrial on the ground that the racial issue had been injected into the case.

But she told the jurors they should give the incident "no weight or consideration" in their deliberations.

The racial issue came up when Williams asked whether Cheasty used a fictitious name when he went to Tallahassee last summer to investigate the NAACP and to break the bus boycott."

His Recommendations

Cheasty, allowed to give a long explanation of his work in Tallahassee, said his recommendations resulted in the ending of racial seating on Tallahassee buses.

The defense lawyers said this testimony was so prejudicial that there should be a mistrial. Eight of the 12 jurors hearing the Hoffa-Fischbach case are Negroes.

HOUSE PLANS CHECK INTO AID PROFITS

...In Arms Buying

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators said Wednesday they are going to look into a report that foreign governments have made forbidden profits on arms purchases financed with U.S. aid.

The United States was said to be negotiating with the governments for "recovery of the excess profits." The amount was not disclosed.

A spokesman for the Military Operations Subcommittee headed by Rep. Holifield (D-Calif) said a report on this had been submitted by the General Accounting Office (GAO), Congress' watchdog agency on federal spending.

The GAO confirmed making the report, but said it carries a secrecy stamp and cannot now be made public.

Some indication of the findings were apparently contained in secret GAO testimony June 25 released by the House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday after deletions for security.

$3 Billion In Aid

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell testified that nearly three billion dollars of U.S. arms aid since 1952 has been used for "offshore procurement." This is a form of aid in which other countries use U.S. funds to buy goods produced abroad rather than in the United States.

Campbell said procedural agreements between this country and the foreign government "include provisions that no profit will be made by the foreign countries on offshore procurement practices."

But the GAO, he said, has found that "known profits were not excluded from certain contracts with foreign governments and their instrumentalities."

Lawrence J. Powers, GAO's director of defense accounting, said the watchdog agency is checking closely with defense department representatives in Europe "to see what progress they are making in their government-to-government negotiations for the recovery of the excess profits."

Powers' assistant, Charles Bailey, testified that the "primary problem" was failure by U.S. arms aid officials—and possibly by foreign governments, too — to recognize that some foreign corporations getting offshore procurement contracts were actually government corporations.

DIVORCEE SLAIN WHILE CHILDREN SLEEP NEARBY

BALDWIN PARK, Calif. (INS)—A 35-year-old divorcee was murdered Wednesay while two of her three childrens lept in nearby rooms in their Baldwin Park home.

Mrs. Ruth De Lao was slain in a silent death struggle and her body was found by her 15-year-old son, who told police he went into the living room after hearing a car pull away from the house and found the beaten body of his mother.

Police theorized that the murderer might have been a prowler. There have been two other prowler murders in Los Angeles this year.

However, dectectives did not discount the possibility she was murdered by someone she knew. This could account for the noiseless struggle.

Her son said she knew several men but had no particular romantic interests.

BULK SEED —Harriet at PET PARADISE, 1611 O, says "God gave us fresh air for each creature to breathe, whether it be human, bird or wee tiny seed. A live germ must be present if a seed is to grow, that same germ feeds your birds, or didn't you know? If the germ has been smothered for lack of fresh air, your bird will be searching for live germ that's not there. A seed that is dead begins to taste bitter and stale, and a seed that's too bad can cause a bird to be ill. So keep him healthy and happy with seed from PET PARADISE, as each seed contains germs that are sweet and alive." Parakeet mix, 25c lb; canary mix, 35c lb; other bulk mixes available.
